Arizona Head Coach Andy Lopez: The Wildcats are coached by Andy Lopez, who is now in his 10th season with a 352-227-1 record at the school. He has guided the Wildcats to postseason competition in seven of the last nine years, including this year's College Station Regional and highlighted by a 2004 College World Series appearance. The Wildcats have won at least 30 games in five straight years and in nine of Lopez's 10 seasons at the school. Overall, Lopez has more than 1,000 career victories, one national championship and four College World Series appearances. Lopez owns a career record of 1,036-645-7 in 29 years as a head coach, including stints at Cal State Dominguez Hills (1983-88), Pepperdine (1989-94), Florida (1995-2001) and Arizona (2002-present). Lopez led Pepperdine, Florida (twice) and Arizona to College World Series appearances. His total victories are 16th-most among active coaches and he is just one of just 45 individuals to reach 1,000 career victories.

Arizona-Seton Hall History: The Wildcats and Pirates have played just three games against each other on the baseball diamond, each during a three-game series in Tucson in 1986. On March 31, the Wildcats won the opener 10-1, before opening the month of April with a 13-0 victory the next day. In the April 2 series finale, the Wildcats completed a series sweep by edging out Seton Hall, 12-11. Arizona finished the 1986 season with a 49-19 overall record and finished second in the Pac-10 South. The Wildcats went on to win an NCAA Regional in Austin, Texas, and then captured the school's third national championship at the College World Series. All-time, the Wildcats lead the series 3-0.

Arizona-Texas A&M History: The Wildcats and Aggies have a long baseball history that dates back to the 1951 season when Texas A&M won two-of-three games at the District 6 playoffs in Tucson. The teams met off and on in the postseason from the 1950s-70s, before becoming familiar non-conference foes during the 1990s and into the 2000s. In fact, the schools played a three-game series every year except one spanning from 1990-2003 (missed 1998). In the last meetings in Tucson in 2003, Arizona won two of three games one year after Texas A&M swept three games in College Station in 2002. All-time, the Aggies lead the series 22-21-1.

Arizona-Wright State History: The Wildcats and Raiders have faced each other four times on the baseball diamond. The first pair of games came in March of 1990, when the teams split two games in Tucson. In 1993, the schools again met for two games in Tucson, again splitting the series. All-time, the series is tied 2-2.

They Have Some History: Should the Wildcats and Aggies face each other in this year's College Station Regional, it will rehash some postseason history between the two schools – if you dig deep enough into the archives. The two schools first met in 1951, with Texas A&M taking two-of-three games from the Wildcats, who hosted the District 6 Playoffs in Tucson. Four years later, Arizona returned the favor, winning two-of-three against the Aggies in the 1955 District 6 Playoffs hosted in College Station. The Wildcats went on to appear in their second-straight College World Series. Four years later, the Wildcats were at it again and swept Texas A&M in the 1959 District 6 playoffs in College Station en route to the school's fifth College World Series. Then in 1976, the two schools again met in postseason play at an NCAA Regional in Edinburg, Texas. Arizona swept through the first two games against Pan American and Missouri, before knocking off Texas A&M, 8-2, to advance to the College World Series. Coach by Jerry Kindall, that 1976 Arizona club went on to win its first of three national championships.

Pitching Overview: Arizona's staff finished the regular season with a 3.73 ERA, 203 earned runs and 467 hits allowed, 416 strike outs and 161 walks in 490.0 innings pitched ... Most statistics finished in the second half of the Pac-10 categories, but the staff showed significant improvement over last month or more of the season ... In final 22 games, UA pitchers had a 14-8 mark, a 3.21 ERA, 138 strikeouts and 49 walks in 196.1 innings pitched ... Aces RHP Kurt Heyer (8-3, 2.32 ERA, 127 SO, 24 BB, 124.0 IP) and RHP Kyle Simon (10-3, 2.93 ERA, 80 SO, 11 BB, 119.2 IP) rank in the top-10 nationally for most innings pitcher ... Heyer's strikeout tally of 127 ranks second among Pac-10 pitchers and third in the nation ... RHP Konner Wade (2-0, 3.62 ERA, 26 SO, 17 BB, 54.2 IP) solidified the weekend rotation over the final five weeks, accumulating a 2.92 ERA in 37 innings pitched in seven starts (includes two early-season mid-week starts) ... LHP Matt Chaffee settled in as the closer and led club with seven saves, six of which came in Pac-10 games ... LHP Bryce Bandilla and RHP Tyler Hale (started 10 games earlier in season) are first options out of bullpen to set up Chaffee ... Pitching staff's 161 walks in 490 innings pitched are 44 fewer than regular season total from a season ago ... Team only allowed more than four runs in a game in five contests over last 22 games to end season ... Arizona has five shutouts on the season, the most since 2008.

Offensive Overview: On the season, the Wildcats averaged 7.0 runs scored on 11.2 hits per game ... Arizona led the Pac-10 in nearly every statistical category, including batting average (.322), slugging percentage (.451) and on base percentage (.387) during the regular season ... The Wildcats' .322 team batting average ranks No. 3 in the nation at the end of the regular season ... UA hitters collected the second-most extra base hits (164) in the conference ... Robert Refsnnyder (48 R, 54 RBI) and Cole Frenzel (44 R, 44 RBI) are two of only three players league players with 40+ RBI and runs scored on season ... UA's 28 home runs ranked No. 3 in the league ... Wildcat hitters struck out 281 times in 55 games (5.1/game), the fewest of any conference school ... UA batters were hit by a pitch 71 times, which tied for the top mark in the conference ... Four Wildcats placed in the top-10 in individual batting average ... Joey Rickard (.315) led the league in hits, Bryce Ortega (54) in runs scored and Cole Frenzel (.477) in on base percentage ... Robert

GAME NOTES/RECORD BREAKDOWN

Refsnyder finished second with 54 RBI and tied for the most total bases (113) ... Alex Mejia (.346 overall) finished with a .369 batting average in 27 Pac-10 games ... The Wildcats hit .351 overall and .319 in conference games with runners in scoring position on the season ... In 55 regular season contests, UA was 32-2 when out-hitting opponents and 30-4 when scoring more than five runs in a game.

All-Conference Cats: Arizona placed a league-high six players on the Pac-10 All-Conference Team led by pitchers Kurt Heyer and Kyle Simon. It was Heyer's second such honor after making the team as a freshman in 2010. Sophomore position players Cole Frenzel (first base), Alex Mejia (shortstop), Robert Refsnyder (outfield) and Joey Rickard (outfield) earned all-league honors for the first time. It marked the first time since 1993 when Arizona was apart of the Pac-10 South that the school placed six members on the All-Conference team. Senior second baseman Bryce Ortega and junior left-hand reliever Matt Chafee were honorable mention selections.

Strong Finish: Unlike the 2010 season when the Wildcats lost 10 of their final 15 regular season game, this year Arizona played its best baseball down the stretch. The club won 12 of its last 15 games, including nine of its final 12 Pac-10 contests. The three losses this year each came by a single run, including two in extra innings. A year ago, none of UA's 10 losses down the stretch came by a lone run. Certainly a year of experience helped for UA's sophomore-laden lineup and the Wildcats hope a year of postseason experience will reap its benefits, too. But here's a look at what the Wildcats did over the final 15 games of the season:

| Category | Stat | Category | Stat |
|----------------|--------|----------------|-------|
| Record | 15-3 | SB-ATT | 32-38 |
| Average | .328 | Errors | 9 |
| Scoring Margin | 116-43 | DP Turned | 21 |
| Hits | 170 | ERA | 2.69 |
| 2B | 27 | Opp./Avg. .251 | |
| 3B | 11 | K/BB | 92/31 |
| HR | 8 | Hits Allowed | 125 |
| BB/SO | 47/60 | | |

Aces of the Staff: Sophomore Kurt Heyer and junior Kyle Simon started 35 games for the Wildcats, pitching 243.2 combined innings. The right-handers formed one of the top pitching duos in the nation this year as each they combined to throw more innings than any two starting pitcher's from a single school in the regular season. Together, they have an 18-6 record and a 2.62 earned run average entering the postseason. They struck out 207 batters against 35 combined walks - nearly a 6:1 ratio - and threw six complete games. Both were named to the Pac-10 All-Conference Team.

Two Good Trends: The Wildcats have been particularly good at two often overlooked statistics: strikeouts at the plate and walks on the mound. Arizona's hitters struck out the fewest times of any Pac-10 team (281 times in 55 games). That checks out to just 5.1 strikeouts per game, a figure that would be one of the school's best over recent season. A year ago, Arizona's hitters proved to be tough to strikeout, too, fanning just 337 times in 58 games. That was the fewest strikeouts in a season since 2001, when the Wildcats struck out 332 times in 56 games. On a per game basis, the 2005 club was the best in recent memory, going down on strikes just 5.7 times per game. Meanwhile, UA pitchers did a good job of attacking hitters as they issued just 161 walks in 55 games during the regular season. That averages out to 2.9 walks per game, which would be the lowest since 2.8 per game back in 2002. In fact, no season since 2002 has had an average below 3.5 per game.

Turning Two: The double-play combination of SS Alex Mejia and 2B Bryce Ortega has complemented a pitching staff adept at inducing ground balls. As has been noted throughout the year, the Wildcats led the nation in double plays turned through the first half of the 2010 season before a back injury sidelined Ortega the rest of the year. With Ortega out of the lineup, the Wildcats dropped to No. 39 in double plays by season's end. This year, Arizona has seen its double play production increase down the stretch. The Cats led all Pac-10 teams with 31 double plays turned in 27 conference games, and have turned 21 in their last 15 games. It's been a combination of crisp fielding, tosses and turns, along a steady dose of ground balls hit by opponents. The pitching staff has induced 565 ground ball outs on the season compared to 395 fly ball outs.

Power Surge? No one will mistake Arizona for a home hitting team, but surprisingly the Wildcats finished third in the Pac-10 with their 28 home runs hit during the regular season. It's surprising because a season ago UA hit 35 homers on the season, which slated them next-to-last in the conference in round-trippers. This year Josh Garcia leads the club with seven dingers, followed by Robert Refsnyder with six. A total of nine Wildcats have home runs, including Jett Bandy and Bobby Rinard who hit their first home runs of the year in the final two weeks of the regular season.

.300 Club: Through 55 games, the Wildcats are hitting .322 and are in line to extend their run of .300 seasons to nine straight. UA hit .321 as a team in 2010, extending the program's streak to eight consecutive seasons with an overall batting average of .300 or better. Last year's clip was the best for a Wildcat team since 2005, when a veteran squad turned in a blistering .328 average. The 2003 club - Andy Lopez's second year - also hit .328, while the 2009 club hit .314. Other marks include .306 in 2007, .305 in 2006 and in the 2004 College World Series season, and .301 in 2008.

Leading After 6: For Arizona, scoring runs early and taking a lead in to the late innings has been a winning formula not just this season, but over the years. This year, the Wildcats have outscored opponents 293-144 over innings 1-6 in games. From the seventh inning on, the scoring margin is much closer: 91-86. It's an important distinction because the Wildcats are 28-4 on the season when leading after six innings. Historically, that lead after six innings has been a staple of winning baseball under Andy Lopez at Arizona, who typically relies on a lights-out bullpen. In fact, in the last nine seasons, Lopez's teams are 258-24-1 in the last 283 games they have a lead after six innings of play. While the 2011 bullpen may not have the lights-out numbers of some previous pens (see: Ryan Perry, Daniel Schlereth and Jason Stoffel in 2007-08), a 28-4 mark with a lead after six innings says they are doing some good things late in games.

Comeback Cats: While not a notorious comeback club, Arizona has shown the ability to claw back in games recently. Here's a look at three such games: UA-WSU (May 16) - The Wildcats trailed 4-0 going to the seventh inning in Pullman. Jett Bandy is hit by a pitch to lead off the inning and UA goes on to score five runs on five hits, including a pinch-hit RBI single by Josh Garcia and a two-out, run-scoring triple by Johnny Field to give the Cats the lead. UA adds a run in the ninth inning and Matt Chaffee picked up the save to preserve a 6-4 victory and a series victory by taking two of three games ... UA-USC (May 1) - UA trailed 5-0 after three innings of play, but put a pair of runs on the board in the fourth inning to cut the deficit to 5-2. In the sixth inning, Johnny Field led off with a triple and Robert Refsnyder homered to put the Cats within a run. Jett Bandy restarted the rally with a triple and Bobby Brown tied the game with an RBI single. Seth Mejias-Brean eventually put the Wildcats ahead 6-5 in the inning with a single that drove in Brown. UA added a pair of runs in the eighth inning to win 8-5 and finish off a three-game sweep. It was the club's biggest comeback since overcoming a 6-0 deficit at USC almost exactly one year earlier when the Wildcats earned a hard-fought 9-7 victory at Dedeaux Field on May 2, 2010 ... UA-Cal (April 8) - The visiting Golden Bears scored two runs in the top of the ninth inning to break open a 2-2 tie and take a 4-2 lead. But the Wildcats rallied with three runs of their own in the bottom of the ninth. With one out, pinch-hitter Bobby Brown doubled and Alex Mejia drew a walk. Pinch-hitter Josh Garcia followed with a two-run double down the left field line that tied the game. With Bobby Rinard in the game as a pinch-runner at second base and two outs, Jett Bandy drove in the game-winning run to give the Wildcats a 5-4 walk off victory. UA won the second game of the series to capture the club's first Pac-10 series win of the year.

Pitching Improving: Led by aces Kurt Heyer and Kyle Simon and coupled with the emergence of Konner Wade as the No. 3 starter, Arizona's pitching staff has shown strong improvement over the last month or so of the season, becoming a strength of the club. The staff has allowed more than four runs in a game just five times in the last 22 games, and just three times in the last 15 contests. The staff has shown significant improvement against conference foes, taking nearly a full run off its ERA in the last 18 Pac-10 games. Perhaps just as impressive as the improved numbers is the fact that the Wildcats have played 12 of their last 22 games on the road. All 12 road games came in conference play, meaning 12 of the last 18 Pac-10 games were away from home. Here's a statistical breakdown of the recent trends compared to the overall numbers:

| | ERA | W-L | IP | H | R | ER | BB | SO | O/BA |
|-----------------|------|-------|-------|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|------|
| Last 22 Overall | 3.21 | 14-8 | 186.1 | 184 | 75 | 70 | 49 | 138 | .258 |
| Last 15 Overall | 2.69 | 12-3 | 137.1 | 125 | 43 | 41 | 31 | 92 | .251 |
| Last 18 Pac-10 | 3.42 | 11-7 | 150.1 | 156 | 65 | 61 | 43 | 109 | .258 |
| Overall Pac-10 | 4.32 | 15-12 | 239.1 | 254 | 127 | 115 | 76 | 178 | .282 |
| Overall Season | 3.73 | 36-19 | 490.0 | 467 | 230 | 203 | 161 | 416 | .257 |

Oh So Close: Arizona is 12-4 in its last 16 games. That's a pretty good mark down the home-stretch of the regular season, but the record could be even better considering each of the four losses have been by a single run, including two in extra innings. The Wildcats have had a chance to win every time they've taken the field over the last 16 contests due in large part to outstanding pitching and defense. The club sports a 2.77 ERA and has committed just nine errors in the field over the last 16 games. In the four losses, UA's staff has a 3.13 ERA with just two defensive errors. The problem for the Wildcats in the four losses has been at the plate, where the squad is batting a lowly .215 with a mere five extra base hits. Off nights at the plate are to be expected every once in a while, but one thing that has kept the Wildcats from winning a couple of the close ones has been an inability to deliver a key hit with runners in scoring position. Over the four losses, UA has had 37 at bats with a runner in scoring position while opponents have had 31. Despite more chances, the Wildcats are hitting .216 with runners in scoring position compared to a .290 clip by opponents. The RISP struggles were most prevalent at Stanford two weeks ago, when UA hit a combined 2-for-22 with runners in scoring position over the three games. The Cats also haven't been able to extend innings as they have just five base hits and a .125 batting average with two outs in an inning over the four losses.

Relentless Attack: With the way head coach Andy Lopez has penciled in his lineup cards this year, Joey Rickard, Cole Frenzel and Bryce Ortega have all hit consecutively in the order in each game this season. For the first 40 games, that usually included Ortega batting No. 9 and turning over the lineup to the leadoff hitter Rickard and the No. 2 hitter Frenzel. Recently, the Wildcats have shuffled Frenzel to No. 3 and moved Ortega to No. 2 batting behind Rickard, the leadoff hitter. Suffice it to say, it's been a relentless offensive attack no matter which order they have been in. As a trio, Rickard-Frenzel-Ortega are hitting a combined .352 on the season and reaching base at nifty .431 clip. They have registered 143 runs scored and collected 108 RBI while stealing 47 bases.

GAME NOTES/OFFENSIVE LEADERS

Carrying the Load: The bottom third of the Wildcats' batting order has carried the load for the club down the stretch of the season. UA's No. 7-9 hitters in each of those games – Bobby Rinard, Alex Mejia and Seth Mejias-Brean – have hit a scorching .457 (58-for-126) over the last 12 games, a stretch in which the Wildcats are 9-3. They have combined for 28 runs scored, 28 runs driven in and 15 extra base hits. They have more stolen bases (8) than strikeouts (7).

XBH: In the 2011 regular season, the Wildcats blasted 164 extra base hits on the season, a figure that ranks second among Pac-10 teams. Arizona has hit the second-most doubles (110), the most triples (26) and the third-most home runs (28) in the league. Overall, the club leads the Pac-10 with a .451 slugging percentage. Individually, Johnny Field (.518, 3rd), Robert Refsnyder (.514, 4th) and Cole Frenzel (.490, 5th) ranked in the top-5 for slugging percentage. Field, Refsnyder and teammate Jett Bandy tied for the sixth-most doubles in the league with 15 two-baggers apiece. Refsnyder laced six triples on the year, which tied for the most in the league. Meanwhile, Josh Garcia belted seven home runs on the year, which tied for the third-highest tally.

RPI Facts: The Arizona Wildcats checked in at No. 24 in final Ratings Percentage Index (RPI) released by the NCAA on Tuesday. The ranking was four spots higher from where it was tabbed entering the final regular season week, which resulted in a three-game sweep of Washington. Arizona's 36-19 overall record and strong schedule strength helped boost the team to the Top 25. The Wildcats played 38 of 55 games against teams in the Top 100, with a record of 19-19 in those contests. Arizona had a 7-12 record in 19 matchups with Top 50 opponents. The Wildcats' résumé did not include a "bad loss", as the club is 17-0 against teams ranked outside the Top 100.

Heyer Standards: Arizona Friday night starter Kurt Heyer has picked up right where he left off a year ago following an All-Pac-10 season. In 18 starts this year (includes three mid-week outings), Heyer has turned in a 8-3 record with a 2.32 ERA. He has 127 strikeouts on the year, which ranks No. 3 in the nation, and has walked just 24 batters. Those numbers have come in 124.0 innings pitched, the fifth-most for any player in the country. In 2010, Heyer finished the season with a 7-4 record and a team-best 3.26 ERA in 17 appearances that included 16 starts. He struck out a UA freshman record 109 hitters on the season while walking just 29 in 102.0 innings pitched. A member of the Pac-10 All-Conference team, Heyer etched his name into several top categories for UA freshman pitchers. Along with the record-low 3.26 ERA, Heyer's tally of seven wins ranks tied for No. 4 amongst all freshman pitchers at the school. He tied for the fifth-most starts and tied for No. 3 in freshman winning percentage with a .636 mark in 11 decisions. His 102.0 innings pitched are the fourth-most while he was one of just four pitchers to throw a shutout in a rookie season. Heyer's remarkable strikeout to walk ratio was a key to his success throughout the season. Heyer struck out 9.62 batters per nine innings, which is the second-best ratio in program history for a freshman. His 2.56 walks per nine innings were the third-lowest for a Wildcat. For his career, Heyer has a 15-7 record and a 2.75 ERA. He has struck out 236 batters against 53 walks in 226.0 innings pitched.

Simon Says: Arizona Saturday starter Kyle Simon has turned in a strong junior campaign. With a 10-3 record, Simon has a 2.93 ERA in 119.2 innings pitched, the ninth-most by any pitcher in the country. The 6-foot-5 right-hander has registered 80 strikeouts (including a career-best 13 in season debut against North Dakota State on Feb. 19) while issuing just 11 walks on the season. On April 22, Simon turned in his best collegiate performance in a complete game three-hitter as he pitched the Wildcats to a 2-1 victory. In that game, Simon faced just 29 batters - two over the minimum - and threw 94 pitches in nine innings with five strikeouts and no walks. As a sophomore, Simon led the Wildcats with 109.2 innings pitched on the year and eight victories on the mound. When he was on, he was one of the top pitchers in the Pac-10. But, he struggled with control at times. Simon is poised for a more consistent junior campaign after a breakout summer season in the Cape Cod league. Pitching for the Orleans Firebirds, Simon was selected to the league All-Star game as he accumulated a 0.92 ERA and limited hitters to a .159 average in 39 innings pitched. Perhaps most impressive, Simon hit just two batters and issued eight walks. For the Wildcats, Simon hit a team-high 16 batters and allowed a team-high 37 walks in 2010. In his career, Simon has a 21-14 record with a 4.17 ERA. He has 184 strikeouts and 74 walks in 304.0 innings pitched.

Konner's Starts: Konner Wade was inserted into the weekend rotation for a start against USC on April 30th. A week later, Wade got his first win as a starting pitcher with seven good innings against Alcorn State on May 8. Earlier this year, Wade made two mid-week starts which gave coaches the confidence he'd be able to handle the gig as the No. 3 starter on the weekends. In all seven of his starts, Wade has done a solid job of throwing strikes, as evidenced by his 20 strikeouts and seven walks allowed in 37.0 innings pitched. With a 1-0 record as a starter, Wade boasts a 2.92 ERA, which is notably better than his 3.62 season ERA, which includes nine relief appearances.

Bandy Hits Top-10 Chart: Junior catcher Jett Bandy tallied the 58th and 59th doubles of his career on May 28 against Washington, moving him with two doubles of the No. 3 spot in school history. Two weeks earlier, a double at Washington State pushed him past Chip Hale and into sole possession for the No. 5 spot in school record books. Next in line are Terry Francona and Todd Trafton, who are tied for third in school history with 61 doubles apiece. The school record holder is Dave Stegman, who hit 72 doubles from 1973-76. Bandy also ranks No. 2 in school history with 51 career hit by pitches. The all-time leader is Colt Sedbrook, who was hit 55 times from 2006-08.

Ortega Moving Up: Senior 2B Bryce Ortega leads the Wildcats with 24 stolen bases on the season. That has pushed his carry tally up to 63, which ties him for No. 8 in program history with Russ Gragg (1952-55) and John Moses (1979-80). Trevor Crowe (2003-05) would be next at 66 swipes. Arizona's career leader is Dwight Taylor, who stole 90 bases from 1979-81. Ortega is also challenging the school record for stolen base percentage. Thus far, Ortega is 63-for-70 in stolen base attempts, which checks out to a .900 percentage. That would be good enough to match T.J. Steel's .900 clip from 2006-08 as the school record so long as he doesn't get thrown out in the postseason.

Frenzel's Streak In Perspective: Indeed, all good things must come to an end. On April 23 at Oregon, Cole Frenzel failed to reach base via a base hit, walk or hit by pitch. That snapped a streak of 59 straight games that Frenzel reached base safely dating back to the final 21 games of 2010. Consecutive games reached base is not a streak that has been tracked officially by the NCAA or most schools. So a glance into box scores from the past 35 years revealed that Todd Trafton strung together 59 straight games of reaching base over the course of the 1984-85 seasons. Frenzel now shares that mark that stands as the "believed-to-be" modern day record for Arizona baseball, an era that includes all three of the school's national championships and its transition into the Pacific-10. Interestingly, Kansas State's Nick Martini recently saw a 93-game streak snapped. That became what is now believed to be the NCAA record in the category.

Mejia's Makeup: One of the best compliments a coach can give when describing a player is to say he has "good makeup". The description encompasses a variety of traits, from physical skills to mental toughness. Sophomore shortstop Alex Mejia is a fine example on UA's club of what "makeup" is all about. Mejia won't blow anyone away with off-the-chart physical skills, but the types of plays he makes at shortstop and the approach he carries into the batter's box reveal one of the Pac-10's top players. Consider that Mejia has played in 53 games against Pac-10 foes in league play over two seasons. In those games, Mejia has a .365 batting average, including a .369 clip in 2011. The .365 average in two seasons of Pac-10 play is notably higher than his .333 overall batting average. Even so, Mejia enters finished the regular season with the third-best overall batting average on the club (.347) on the season. Not bad numbers for a guy perhaps more known for his defensive skills.

Making the Most of It: Bobby Rinard was named the Pac-10 Player of the Week in the final vote of the season following last weekend's performance against Washington. Arizona's hottest hitter in the month of May, Rinard turned in a sensational weekend at the plate over the final three home games of his career. Starting all three games in left field, Rinard went 8-for-10, hit his first career home run and delivered the game-winning hit in the bottom of the ninth of Saturday's game, which ensured a series victory for the Wildcats. The final regular season games were just the latest in a string of breakout games for the senior outfielder who had started just one of the club's first 40 games. But in the last 15 contests, Rinard has 13 starts, including 12 straight. In those games, Rinard has a team-best .489 batting average (23-for-47) with 15 runs scored and seven RBI. He has six doubles and a home run, to go with three stolen bases (in as many attempts) and errorless defense. The Wildcats are 12-3 in the final 15 games.

Table-Setter: Sophomore centerfielder Joey Rickard has been instrumental to Arizona's success as a leadoff hitter in his first two seasons at the school. Often times, the Wildcats' success comes and goes with Rickard's ability to get on base from the top of the order and score runs, while driving in his share in RBI situations. Consider that in the 70 games UA has won the last two years (34 in 2010 and 36 to date in 2011), Rickard hits .395, reaches base at a .460 clip, has scored 75 runs and tallied 70 RBI. Those numbers include 16 doubles, three triples and nine home runs, to go with 21 stolen bases. Compare those outrageous numbers to his .235 average, .289 on base percentage, 17 runs and 17 RBI in 39 losses accumulated (24 in 2010, 19 in 2011). Certainly Rickard's performances do not single-handedly lead to wins or losses, but it's pretty obvious as a general trend that UA's leadoff hitter can set a tone.

Home Sweet Home: It won't matter this weekend in College Station, but the Wildcats put together another strong season at home, including nine straight wins to close out the home slate. Arizona, victorious in 27 of 33 home games in 2011, has continued a nice string of success in the friendly confines of Jerry Kindall Field at Frank Sancet Stadium over recent seasons. Earlier this season, the Wildcats won 12-straight games en route to winning 16 of their first 17 games. In fact, this year's 12 straight home wins marks the fourth time in the last five seasons that the Wildcats have put together a double-digit home winning streak (15 games in each of the 2010, 2008 and 2007 seasons). Over the last five years (2007-2011), the Wildcats have won more than 75-percent of home games (128-42) with at least 21 victories in those seasons. Looking at Pac-10 games, the Cardinal and Navy has captured 42 of the last 63 contests in Tucson, good enough for a 67-percent clip. Before that, Arizona sported a slightly above average win percentage in league games at home, winning 31 of 60 from 2002-2006 under Andy Lopez.
