Under head coach Lute Olson, the University of Arizona has become a fixture in the men's college basketball rankings. Over the last 16 seasons, the Wildcats have been ranked in the nation's top 25 in every Associated Press poll but two: the preseason polls in 1995-96 and 2001-02. Interestingly, Arizona managed to leap into the top 10 within two weeks on both occasions and remained ranked for the remainder of the season.

Further, until being left out of the 2001-02 preseason poll, Arizona had been ranked in the polls for six straight seasons, covering 109 consecutive ranking periods, dating back to Nov. 20, 1996. Outside of those two early-season speedbumps, the Cats have been ranked by the AP in 271 consecutive polls released during the regular season only heading into the 2003-04 campaign.

Arizona's record in the coaches poll is even better. Since the 1989-90 season, the Wildcats have been ranked in 241 of 242 polls dating back to Dec. 4, 1990. The only break in that streak was also the 2001-02 preseason poll.

Arizona has been the No. 1 team in the country for 30 different polling periods, with the last coming on five consecutive occasions in the 2002-03 season. The team's initial climb to No. 1 came Dec. 21, 1987 and also happened during the 1988-89, 1990-91, 1996-97, 1997-98 and 2000-01 seasons.

Wildcats in the NBA

"What's really been good to see is the success that many of our former players have experienced in the NBA, even guys who some thought would not have a future in the league. I think the former Arizona players in the NBA now have opened the door for more of our players because they have given the program a good reputation."

- Arizona head coach
Lute Olson

"Obviously, I wouldn't have had a chance at a pro career without the experience I gained at Arizona under Lute Olson. I was about the last guy recruited in America in 1983, but he saw something he liked, I guess. I improved each year and we progressed from nowhere, to the Final Four. I look back and I know that being at Arizona was the best time of my life."

- Steve Kerr, Class of '88 and member of the 1996, '97 & '98 World Champion Chicago Bulls and 1999 & 2003 World Champion San Antonio Spurs

"The way quarterbacks at Notre Dame and tailbacks at Southern California once were burdened with Heisman Trophies, the Arizona point guard can't now avoid becoming a top-10 selection in the NBA draft."

- Mike DeCourcy,
The Sporting News

"According to the numbers, there is no place in America for catching the eyes of the pros... In the NBA today, you can't swing a dead cat without hitting a former 'Cat.'"

- Pat Forde, ESPN.com

"The program produces very fundamentally sound players. That's why I played in the NBA and that's why Jud and Steve are still in the league."

- Tom Tolbert, Class of '88 and member of four NBA teams from 1989-95

"They're contenders from here on out. They've made their name and now they've got their choice of the top 10 to 20 players in the nation every year."

- Larry Harris,
Milwaukee Bucks' scouting director

"They're very sound players who don't make many mistakes. They hit open shots, move without the ball, don't turn the ball over much, pass the ball, block out and rebound, set picks. They're ideal players to have in your system."

- Chet Kammerer,
Miami Heat head scout

"Most of the kids that have come out of there (Arizona) have good work ethics and are players that you don't hesitate to draft."

- Dick Van Arsdale, Phoenix Suns vice president for player personnel

"History says that Arizona guards do succeed. You have the feeling that those guys are well-schooled or well-trained. The Arizona guards don't get drafted and fall flat."

- Larry Riley,
Vancouver Grizzlies director of scouting

"One thing that you know with Lute is that if you draft an Arizona player, you are going to get a player who is competitive, a team guy and a very nice kid. Lute does a wonderful job and is held in very high esteem by NBA coaches."

- Jerry West, Los Angeles Lakers executive vice president

"Coach Olson tailors his team each year to the style of the players. Other coaches do that, but I think he does it a little better. He is respected, but every year, the focus is always on the players."

- Reggie Geary, class of '96 and member of the San Antonio Spurs

1997 Final Four

25-9 Overall; 11-7 Pac-10
National Champions

1996-97 Arizona Wildcats

Nothing could have been a bigger surprise than the journey of the 1996-97 Wildcats to the national title. The path was unconventional, but the results were just as satisfying as the team overcame a mediocre regular season and transformed from unknown commodity to the talk of the entire nation practically overnight.

Things didn't look good early in the season as the Cats faced a grueling schedule made more difficult by the loss of their top returning scorer, Miles Simon, to academic probation. With Simon gone for the opening 11 games, and five seniors missing from the previous season, the team was bound to suffer through some growing pains. However, somebody forgot to tell them that as they reeled off wins over top-ranked opponents North Carolina, Utah and Texas. The quick start boosted the Cats from a preseason No. 19 ranking to sixth in the nation before a 73-71 overtime loss to fourth-ranked Michigan at Auburn Hills.

Everybody was forced to step up in some way to fill Simon's absence, but none did more to carry the team than fellow junior Michael Dickerson, who quickly took over the offensive load with 25.5 ppg in the first six contests. Dickerson led the team in scoring 10 of the first 11 games and would finish the season as the top scorer on a squad full of potent weapons.

Five straight wins helped Arizona rebound from the loss to the Wolverines, including two consecutive one-point thrillers against California and Stanford. Freshman Mike Bibby gave a preview of the cool he would show in pressure situations throughout the season by sinking a pair of free throws with 3.6 seconds left in the 81-80 win over the Golden Bears.

With a 10-2 record and plenty of momentum, the Cats headed into the Los Angeles road trip with plenty of confidence. But it proved to be too much too soon for the young squad, as USC and UCLA swept Arizona for the first time since the 1991-92 season. The trip proved to be the low-point of the season and put the team in a difficult situation trying to climb back to the top of the league standings.

They did just that with nine wins in their next 12 games, with an average victory margin of 20.7 ppg. The three losses, by a combined 12 points, were all within reach and included a first-place showdown with UCLA in McKale. But the Bruins took control of the Pac-10 race with a 66-64 decision over the Cats, and Arizona never returned to the top of the standings.

Despite back-to-back losses to Cal and Stanford to end the season, the team was optimistic heading into the NCAA tournament. The luck the team had experienced to begin the season seemed to be reversing itself as the Wildcats lost by just one and two points to the Bay Area schools. But a fifth-place Pac-10 finish and No. 4 seeding did not affect the team's confidence.

"People will look at us like we are on a downswing after losing our past two games in a row," guard Jason Terry said the week before the NAAs began. "I hope they do just that and underestimate us. I really like the way we are playing as a team right now and I think we have the chance to do some damage in the next few weeks—no matter what people outside the program say."

The Cats began their shredding of the tournament in Memphis with a couple of gut-wrenching victories in the first and second rounds. Down by 10 points with 7:34 to go against South Alabama, Arizona went on a 22-4 run to finish the game. Two days later, the team hit its free throws down the stretch to squeeze out a 73-69 win to break 12th-seeded College of Charleston's 23-game winning streak. Bibby scored 18 points, and Simon led the team with 20, with both hitting key free throws down the stretch.

From there, Arizona advanced to Birmingham and the Sweet Sixteen for a showdown against top-ranked Kansas. The Cats turned in their best performance of the season when they needed it most as four players scored in double figures. As in the previous game against Charleston, Bibby displayed nerves of steel in sinking two free throws with 18 seconds left that gave UA an 85-82 advantage in one of the biggest upsets in NCAA tournament history.

However, the road to Indianapolis was not yet paved in gold for Arizona. The Southeast Region Final proved to be challenging as 10th-seeded Providence took the Wildcats to overtime. Arizona had a 12-point lead with six minutes remaining before the Providence comeback. The Cats survived in the extra period and moved on to the school's third Final Four appearance and second in four years.

At first glance, Arizona was the stepchild of the 1997 Final Four, an uninvited four seed rubbing elbows with three top seeds. But that was just the way the team wanted it. With little pressure and nothing to lose, the Cats calmly overcame an 11-point deficit in the first half against North Carolina. Bibby's three-point shooting and the usual big-game performance from Simon led to a 66-58 win that set up a showdown with Kentucky in the title game.

The title showdown, with 16 ties and 18 lead changes, turned out to be one of the most exciting championship games in history. The teams traded baskets for 40 minutes, including a wild final half-minute, that kept the 47,028 fans in attendance on their feet.

Bibby found an open Bennett Davison under the basket for an easy lay-up with 18.9 second remaining that gave Arizona a 74-71 lead. Kentucky's Anthony Epps responded with a three-pointer with 12 seconds on the clock that sent the game into overtime.

In the extra period, Arizona scored all 10 of its points from the line and built a 79-74 lead when Kentucky failed to score on its first four possessions. The team never looked back after that, giving head coach Lute Olson his and the school's first national championship.

"For the excitement, for effort, for tremendous defense, this game had everything a national championship game should have," Olson said. "I may be a little biased, but I wish I could have been a spectator watching it in the stands."

Simon led the Cats with 30 points, which earned him Most Outstanding Player honors. In the final three games of the tournament, he scored 30 points against Providence, 24 against North Carolina, followed by the championship game performance.

When all was said and done, the Wildcats had a 25-9 record and gave Lute Olson the highlight of his coaching career. Ultimately, the 1996-97 Arizona squad—one without a senior among its top eight players—was able to accomplish what it did because it believed in itself and played together.

"I'm just so proud of these guys," Olson said after the title game. "It's been a never say die group. They have had faith in themselves—they've had faith in their teammates. It's been a closely-knit family all year long. And as I told them in the locker room, I could not ever be prouder of a group of young people as I am of this group. They were willing to pay the price and that is the reason why we won."

NCAA West Regional Champions

1987-88 Arizona Wildcats

Remembered as one of the finest teams in the history of Wildcat basketball, the 1987-88 squad put Arizona and the city of Tucson on the college basketball map. The team entered the season with plenty of question marks. Senior point guard, Steve Kerr, the anchor of the team, was attempting to complete a remarkable comeback from a career-threatening knee injury, while the rest of the team had plenty of untested talent.

Any questions were quickly answered, though, when Arizona defeated No. 9 Michigan and third-ranked Syracuse and emerged from the frozen north with the championship of the Great Alaska Shootout. Three more victories over top ten teams in the next two weeks earned the Cats the first No. 1 ranking in school history, which they held for a week and a half before falling to New Mexico in the Pit. It was a short trip back to the top, however, as Arizona continued to pound Pac-10 opponents and held the top ranking for four straight weeks before suffering its only conference loss to Stanford in Maples Pavilion.

Easy victories in the Pac-10 tournament gave Arizona the Pac-10 Championship and the No. 1 seed in the West Region of the NCAA tournament. The Cats were hardly challenged, with easy victories over Cornell (90-50) and Seton Hall (84-55) in the subregional. Lute Olson defeated his former team, Iowa, for the second time of the season, 99-79, in the Sweet Sixteen to force a showdown with North Carolina in the regional final. The Cats trailed at halftime, 28-26, for only the second time in the season, but Tom Tolbert's 18 points in the second half helped propel the team to a 70-52 win.

Arizona's dream season came to an end in Kansas City, with an 86-78 defeat at the hands of Oklahoma. In a showdown between the two teams with the most wins in 1988, the Sooners kept the Cats transition game in check with a swarming press defense and used a strong inside game combined with key outside shooting to edge the Wildcats in the second half. Consensus All-American Sean Elliott scored 31 points and added 11 rebounds to earn NCAA All-Tournament honors.

Arizona rolled into the season, winning 12 of its first 13 games. The lone loss in that stretch would later be considered as the turning point of the season. Eighth-ranked Kentucky defeated the Cats, 93-92, on a buzzer-beating tip-in for the championship of the Maui Classic, but the game proved to be the team that they could play with anybody in the nation. They proved that a week later, capturing their eighth consecutive Fiesta Bowl Classic title with a 119-95 win over seventh-ranked Michigan. Khalid Reeves proved himself to be one of the best guards in the nation, connecting on 23-of-25 attempts from the field and 10-of-11 from the line in the two games of the tournament.

Despite four league losses, the Cats managed to capture their second consecutive Pac-10 title and earned a No. 2 seed in the West Region of the NCAA tournament, much to the chagrin of Wildcat fans everywhere. The Cats chased away any first-round ghosts, however, with easy victories over Loyola-Maryland (81-55) and Virginia (71-58) in the first two rounds that were built on sound defense. The Cats continued that defensive attitude in the next two rounds, holding Louisville to 37.3% in the Sweet Sixteen, while Damon Stoudamire led the team with 27 points and 11 rebounds in its win over top-seed Missouri to reach the Final Four.

Arkansas spoiled the school's second trip to the Final Four with a 91-82 win. Damon Stoudamire tied the game at halftime with a three-pointer at the buzzer, and Arizona held a five-point lead with just over eight minutes remaining. But the Razorbacks wiped out that deficit with a 14-1 run over the next three minutes that sent the Cats home. Despite the loss, the Cats returned home with the satisfaction of having proved their doubters wrong and exceeding all expectations but their own.

2001 Final Four

28-8 Overall; 15-3 Pac-10

National Runners-Up

A preseason No. 1 ranking and the national championship expectations that came with it put plenty of pressure on the 2000-01 squad from the start, but nothing could prepare the team for the adversity ahead. The Wildcats opened the season by capturing the Maui Invitational championship, but lost three of their next five games to fall in the rankings and leave many wondering if the preseason expectations were too high.

In the next month, the team struggled through the news of the death of Lute Olson's wife, Bobbi. Burdened by off-the-court concerns for their head coach, the team fell to Mississippi State, 75-74, in the Fiesta Bowl Classic final and second-ranked Stanford, 85-76, in the opening weekend of Pac-10 play and any concerns for the rest of the season took a backseat to difficulties faced by Olson.

The UA mentor was away from the team for three weeks, but when he returned on January 15 the squad had a renewed sense of purpose. Informally dedicating the season to Bobbi, the team had a new attitude with its familiar leader pacing the sidelines. After Olson's return, the Wildcats turned into one of the hottest teams in the nation, winning 18 of their last 21 games and finishing the regular season with a six-game winning streak, including a 76-75 win over top-ranked Stanford in Palo Alto.

Arizona took its hot streak and No. 2 seed into the Midwest Region of the NCAA tournament and scorched its first two opponents by a combined margin of 26 points. The regional finals in San Antonio proved more challenging as the Wildcats were forced to bully their way through two defense-minded teams. But a 66-56 win over Mississippi followed by an 87-81 victory in the rubber match with Illinois sent the team to Minneapolis and the school's fourth trip to the Final Four.

Even with the expectations of a Final Four berth fulfilled, the team wanted to cap the season with the national championship. The Cats got one step closer to that goal with an 80-61 win over Michigan State in the semifinal that gave Arizona its second appearance in the championship game in five years. However, the season fell one victory short of being fulfilled with the loss to Duke in a showdown between the top two preseason picks. Despite the loss, the squad gave Olson and UA its fifth top-10 ranking in eight years, 14th consecutive 20-win season, 17th-straight NCAA appearance and a season that will not soon be forgotten.

* Arizona was a member of the Border Conference from 1931-61, the Western Athletic Conference from 1962-78, and the Pacific-10 Conference from 1978-present.
 + Due to travel restrictions during World War II, no official Border Conference championship was awarded in 1943-44 or 1944-45. Record listed in 1944-45 reflects a limited schedule vs. other conference members.

J.F. "Pop" McKale Head Coach, 1914-21

Nearly every Arizona athletic accomplishment can be traced to J.F. "Pop" McKale. The longtime Director of Athletics (1914-57) was also one of the Cats' first coaches on the hardwood.

McKale was the first highly-successful UA basketball coach. From 1914-21 his teams won 49 of 61 games, good for an .803 winning percentage, and posted three undefeated seasons. From the time he took over in 1914, Arizona won 21 consecutive games over three seasons. No coach with at least three years of experience in the Old Pueblo has ever surpassed McKale's .803 career winning percentage.

The centerpiece of the UA's athletic facilities was officially dedicated McKale Memorial Center on Feb. 1, 1973. Pop was also inducted as a charter member of the Arizona Sports Hall of Fame in 1976.

Fred A. Enke Head Coach, 1925-61

In a career that spanned 36 seasons, Coach Fred A. Enke was the man responsible for the early successes of Wildcat basketball. Winning more than 60 percent of his games, Enke amassed 509 wins in his tenure on the UA sidelines and still ranks as the winningest coach in school history.

Enke guided the Cats to the first four postseason appearances (3 N.I.T./1 NCAA) in school history and in 1950-51 competed in both the N.I.T. and NCAA postseason tournaments.

He was the first coach to lead Arizona to a national ranking and two of his teams (1950, 1951) finished the season ranked in the top 15.

Perhaps most impressively, Enke's teams dominated play in the Border Conference. Under his direction, Arizona won 12 conference championships, including a span in which the Cats won or shared seven consecutive Border Conference titles (1942-51). No Border Conference team won as many league games (231) or overall contests (398) during its membership.

Enke was inducted as a charter member of the Arizona Sports Hall of Fame in 1976.
