SEASON DATA: Arizona (23-12, 12-6 Pac-12) won 23 games, finished fourth in the Pac-12 regular-season standings and participated in the National Invitation Tournament ... It marked the 33rd 20-win season and the 34th postseason appearance in school history ... Arizona has posted 28 consecutive on-court winning seasons, the longest active streak in the Pac-12 ... UA ranked third nationally in three-point field goal percentage defense (.285) and 38th in three-point field goal percentage (.378) ... Guard Kyle Fogg and forward Solomon Hill were both first-team all-Pac-12 selections and both earned all-district kudos as well.

THE RANKINGS: UA finished the season unranked in both the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today Coaches' polls, but was ranked in three polling periods during the 2011-12 campaign. Further, Arizona's No. 15 ranking in the Nov. 15 AP poll was the highest for a Pac-12 team all season.

ARIZONA HEAD COACH SEAN MILLER ... concluded his third season at the University of Arizona and his eighth overall as a college head coach with a record of 189-82 (.697) and 69-35 (.663) at Arizona ... In his eight-year career, Miller's teams have won 20 games six times and captured five regular-season or postseason tournament championships ... He guided UA to 30 wins and the 2011 Pac-10 regular season championship in a run that culminated in the NCAA Tournament's Elite Eight ... He was named Pac-10 Conference and NABC District 20 Coach of the Year ... Appointed April 7, 2009, Miller came to Tucson after five successful years at Xavier University, where he amassed four 20-win seasons and four NCAA Tournament appearances ... His clubs won the three Atlantic 10 regular season championships (2007-09) and the 2006 Atlantic 10 postseason tournament title ... During his time at XU, the Musketeers won better than 71 percent of their conference games, including an .813 winning percentage (39-9) in his last three seasons ... Miller has made 16 trips to the postseason in his 19 seasons as a head, assistant or associate head coach (9 NCAA/7 NIT) and has an 9-5 (.643) NCAA Tournament record as a head coach ... He took two Xavier teams to the NCAA Tournament's Sweet 16 (2008, 2009) with his 2008 club advancing to the West Regional final ... His 2007-08 team set a Xavier record for wins in a season with 30, helping him claim Atlantic 10 and NABC District 10 Coach-of-the-Year honors ... Since becoming a head coach, 22 of 23 players to complete eligibility under Miller have earned their degrees ... A standout guard for the University of Pittsburgh (1987-92), Miller was the Big East Freshman of the Year in 1988, won a gold medal on the 1991 U.S. World University Games team ... He is assisted by James Whitford, Emanuel Richardson and Joe Pasternack.

ARIZONA IN THE NATIONAL STATISTICAL RANKINGS: As a team, Arizona ranked in the top 100 nationally in 10 statistical categories: three-point field goal percentage defense (.285/3rd), three-point field goal percentage (.378/38th), field goal percentage defense (.406/43rd), scoring defense (62.7/62nd), scoring margin (+6.3/67th), personal fouls per game (16.8/69th), three-point field goals per game (7.4/70th), winning percentage (.657/74th), assist:turnover ratio (1.08/83rd) and turnovers per game (12.5/83rd). Individually, Solomon Hill was the highest-ranked Wildcat, checking in at No. 110 nationally in rebounds per game (7.7).

AS GOOD AS ANY: Sean Miller's Wildcats posted a 12-6 record in conference play this season, giving him a 36-18 (.667) Pac-12 record in his first three seasons in the league. Not only does that record tie for the best in the Pac-12 in that span, but since the conference expanded to 10 teams back in 1978-79, Miller is one of only two coaches in that span to win 36 conference games in their first three years in the league, joining UCLA's Steve Lavin, who went 39-15 (.722) from 1996-99.

MORE ON MILLER: Additionally, Miller's 69 overall wins in his first three years in Tucson are more than any current Pac-12 coach in his first three years in the league. Additionally, no Pac-12 team has more road wins in conference play (14) than UA since Miller took over. Currently, Arizona is averaging 23 wins per season under Miller, an improvement over the six seasons (21.7) prior to his arrival.

ALL-DISTRICT: Two players, Kyle Fogg and Solomon Hill, were honored with all-district honors following the regular season. Fogg was a first-team all-District IX selection by the United States Basketball Writers Association, while Hill was a first-team all-District 20 pick by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. It marks the first all-district honor for each player.

PAC-12 HONORS: Five Arizona men's basketball players were recognized by the Pac-12 Conference, as the league announced its postseason honors on March 5. Kyle Fogg and Solomon Hill were first-team all-conference picks, while Nick Johnson was an all-freshman selection. Jesse Perry was an honorable mention all-conference honoree, while Josiah Turner was tabbed honorable mention all-freshman. Additionally, Fogg was a selected to the all-defensive team.

ALL-TOURNAMENT: In advancing to the Pacific Life Pac-12 Tournament championship game for the second consecutive season, Arizona placed three players on the all-tournament team in Kyle Fogg, Solomon Hill and Jesse Perry. It marks the fourth time in the 15-year history of the event that three Wildcats were voted to the all-tournament squad (1988, 1989, 2002). In Arizona's three games, Fogg, Hill and Perry combined to average 47.3 points and 21.3 rebounds.

AWARD WINNER: Junior swingman Kevin Parrom was named one of the winners of the 2012 Wilma Rudolph Award, the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A) announced April 27. The N4A Wilma Rudolph Student-Athlete Achievement Award is intended to honor student-athletes who have overcome great personal, academic, and/or emotional odds to achieve academic success while participating in intercollegiate athletics. A 6-foot-6, 215-pound junior guard/forward from the Bronx, N.Y., overcame the loss of his grandmother and a gunshot wound to his right leg on Sept. 23, while visiting his mother who was in the final stages of a battle with cancer, to average 4.9 points and 2.9 rebounds in 20 appearances (one start) this season before breaking a bone in his foot on Jan. 28 and missed the remainder of the year.

WE'RE PRETTY GOOD AT THIS: As mentioned above, Arizona's .285 (170-of-596) three-point field goal percentage defense figure ranked third nationally, which marked the second straight season that the Cats have ranked in the nation's top five. Not only are the 2011-12 and 2010-11 (.293) figures the two lowest in program history since the advent of the three-point shot in 1986-87, but UA's 170 treys allowed this year was the lowest opponent total since 1989-90. Over the last two seasons, UA opponents have connected on less than 29 percent of its three-point FG attempts (345-of-1,194).

CLOSE CALLS: Dating back to March 2011, Arizona has endured numerous of razor-thin defeats, as the program's 14 losses in that span have come by 76 total points (5.4 ppg). This year, UA was 1-4 in games decided by two points or less and nine of its 12 defeats were decided by fewer than 10 points. Included in last calendar year are a pair of two-point defeats in the Pac-12 Tournament title game and a two-point loss in the NCAA West Regional final. The Cats have proven to be in every ball game.

NUMBERS DON'T LIE: Field goal percentage and turnovers proved a good measure of success, as UA was 18-1 when outshooting the opposition and 5-11 when not; further, UA was 13-3 when committing the same or fewer turnovers and 10-9 when committing more.

LONG-RANGE THREAT: Arizona finished 2011-12 led the Pac-12 in three-point field goal made per game at 7.4 per game. The Wildcats also connected on 37.8 percent (258-of-683) of its attempts from behind the arc to rank second in the conference. Individually, three Cats ranked in the league's top 15: Brendon Lavender, 1st, .487 (55-of-113); Kyle Fogg, 3rd, .444 (72-of-162); and Solomon Hill, 11th, .389 (37-of-95). Four UA players averaged at least 1.0 made treys per game or better this season.

HOLD 'EM DOWN: Arizona limited opponents to an average of 62.7 points per game in 35 outings this year, a figure that ranked in the top 20 percent of all Division I schools. It was the lowest scoring defense figure for the program since the 1985-86 team surrendered an average of 62.3 points per game. Arizona held 12 opponents to less than 60 points in 2011-12. It continues a positive trend for the Wildcats defense, as the squad has allowed fewer points per game in each of Sean Miller's first three seasons: 72.0 ppg in 2009-10, 67.9 ppg in 2010-11 and 62.7 ppg in 2011-12.

GETTING DEFENSIVE: The Wildcat defense stacked up pretty well in terms of scoring defense (62.7 ppg), field goal percentage defense (.406) and three-point field goal percentage (.285). So good, in fact, that Arizona proved to be the best Pac-12 team across the board in those categories, ranking fourth, second and first, respectively. UA's average ranking of 2.3 in those categories topped the conference. All told, Arizona finished in the top-four places in nine Pac-12 statistical categories, four of those were defensive.

TOEING TO THE LINE: The Wildcats did a solid job all season long of getting to the free throw line, as the club averaged 23.3 free throw attempts per game and made an average of four more free throws per game than the opposition. On the year, UA connected on 70.5 percent (568-of-806) of its charity tosses, marking the 15th consecutive season that the Cats have topped the 70-percent plateau as a team. During the Sean Miller era, Arizona has connected on 71.4 percent (1,784-of-2,499) of its free throw attempts.

BALANCED: Arizona achieved a measure of offensive balance, as three players – Kyle Fogg (472 pts./13.5 ppg), Solomon Hill (452/12.9) and Jesse Perry (428/12.2) – each scored more than 400 points this season. It marked a single-season high for each player, who also ranked in the top-20 places among Pac-12 performers, and marked the first time since 2008-09 that Arizona had three player score at least 400 points, when Chase Budinger (630/18.0), Jordan Hill (621/18.3), and Nic Wise (548/15.7) accomplished the feat.

OFF THE MARK: Forward Solomon Hill led Arizona with a .500 field goal percentage (151-of-302), and was the only Wildcat with 100 or more field goal attempts to shoot 50 percent or better from the field. That illuminates what may have been Arizona's Achilles' heel this season: poor shooting. UA ranked 10th in the Pac-12 with its .439 (795-of-1,812) field goal percentage, a figure that was the lowest for the program since 1982-83 (.438/741-of-1,690).

BOARD WORK: Arizona closed the 2011-12 campaign with a starting line-up that averaged 6-foot-4. Despite that fact, Arizona outrebounded 24 of 34 opponents on the season, posted a +1.8 rebound margin and had the second- and third-leading rebounders in the Pac-12 in Solomon Hill (7.7 rpg) and Jesse Perry (7.5 rpg). On the year, Arizona was 19-5 (.792) when outrebounding the opposition and is 50-13 (.794) when accomplishing the feat in the Sean Miller era.

DOUBLE-DOUBLES: On the strength of 12 double-doubles apiece from its bookend forwards Solomon Hill and Jesse Perry, Arizona posted 26 double-doubles this season, a figure that led the Pac-12 Conference. In addition to Hill's and Perry's efforts, Kyle Fogg also added two of his own. Arizona posted a total of 10 double-doubles over its last 11 games played.

A HIGH PERCENTAGE: The Cats capped 2011-12 with 258 three-point field goals, a figure that led the Pac-12, and tied for the fourth-highest single-season total in school history. All told, Arizona's 258 treys led to 774 points from behind the arc, which accounted for 32.0 percent of the offense (2,416 total points). That output represents the highest percentage of the total points scored since the advent of the three-point shot in 1986-87. In fact, the only two seasons in which the percentage of three-point scoring has topped 30 percent have been the last two.

WHAT'S SCHEDULED TO RETURN: With eight letterwinners from this club scheduled to return in 2012-13, a total of 45.6 percent of the points scored (1,101 of 2,416), 46.2 percent of the rebounding (571 of 1,237), 51.8 percent of the assists (245 of 473) and 47.9 percent of the minutes played (3,377 of 7,050) should come back as well.

NCAA Tournament Facts

Arizona has made 26 trips to the NCAA Tournament in the last 28 years. Since UA's run began in 1985, 274 different teams have played in the NCAA Tournament. In that span, Arizona ranks fifth in games played and in number of wins, and is one of just 18 schools to post at least 28 tournament victories.

As a measure of consistent excellence, Arizona is one of just 11 schools to have appeared in at least 21 of the last 28 NCAA Tournaments. The Wildcats' .642 winning percentage ranks ninth. No school with 21 or more appearances since 1985 has a cumulative losing record.

In the last 28 years (1985-2012), 117 Arizona players have made a total of 644 game appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Here is the top 10 in terms of individual tournament games played:

- Eugene Edgeron (F, 1997-99, 2001), 17 games
- Jason Gardner (G, 2000-03), 15
Luke Walton (F, 2000-03), 15
- Jason Terry (G, 1996-99), 14
Miles Simon (G, 1995-98), 14
A.J. Bramlett (C, 1996-99), 14
- Salim Stoudamire (G, 2002-05), 12
Channing Frye (C, 2002-05), 12
- Hassan Adams (F, 2003-06), 11
Matt Muehlebach (G, 1988-91), 11
Jud Buechler (F, 1987-90), 11
Donnell Harris (F, 1996-98), 11

OUR OFFENSIVE WEAPON: Kyle Fogg finished the year as Arizona's top scorer with a career-best 13.5 ppg average. The 6-foot-3 senior guard from Brea, Calif., also led the Cats in three-point field goals (72), free throws percentage (120-of-152/.789) and steals (37) – all career highs. On the year, he had 25 games in double figures with seven games of 20 or more points. Additionally, his 1,124 minutes played in 2011-12 marked the first time Fogg had logged more than 1,000 minutes in a season.

QUITE A CAREER: Four years ago he was a late spring signee, and now as Kyle Fogg caps his UA career, he does so after making a significant impact on the Wildcat record book, finishing his career ranked in the top 10 in six career statistical categories: games played (139/1st), three-point field goals (193/T4th), games started (119/T5th), minutes played (3,829/7th), three-point field goal attempts (478/8th) and three-point field goal percentage (.404/8th), and was 22nd in points scored (1,341). For good measure, he knocked down a trey in 101 of 139 career games played, including the last 29 consecutive.

CONSISTENT: Junior Solomon Hill proved to be Arizona's steadiest player in 2011-12, as the 6-foot-6 native of Los Angeles, Calif., led the Wildcats with 27 games of 10 or more points and 29 games with five or more rebounds. He averaged career-best totals of 12.8 points and 7.7 rebounds per game to go with a .500 (151-of-302) field goal percentage. In Arizona's four postseason games, Hill averaged a team-best 16.8 points per game to go with per-game averages of 7.5 rebounds and 2.0 steals.

A UNIQUE ACCOMPLISHMENT: In a year in which Solomon Hill ranked second in rebounding (7.7 rpg) and 16th in scoring (12.9 ppg) to earn all-Pac-12 honors, the junior forward also accomplished something unmatched in UA annals, as he is the first player in Wildcat history to lead the team in field goal percentage (.500), rebounding and assists (2.6 apg) in the same season.

DOUBLING UP: Forward Jesse Perry made quite an impact during his senior season, nearly doubling his output of points (6.6 ppg in 2010-11/12.2 ppg in 2011-12), rebounds (4.4 rpg/7.5 rpg), assists (27/45), free throws (63/123) and three-point field goals (7/11) en route to honorable mention all-conference kudos. In his two-year career in Tucson, the 6-foot-7 St. Louis, Mo., native posted 678 points (9.3 ppg) and 430 rebounds (5.9 rpg) in 73 games played (60 starts).

ON THE MARK: Senior Brendon Lavender's .487 (55-of-113) three-point field goal percentage led the Pac-12 and ranked fourth on UA's single season statistical list. After making just one trey as a freshman, his output increased in each of his last three seasons (23, 29, 55) and his career three-point FG percentage of .4111 (108-of-263) is tied for sixth place in UA history. Lavender saw action in 130 career games, a figure that is tied for the eighth most in school history.

FIRST-YEAR PHENOM: Guard Nick Johnson averaged 8.9 points, 2.4 assists and 28.1 minutes per game in 35 games as a freshman. He is the first Wildcat guard to make as many as 28 starts as a freshman and be as productive since Jerry Bayless, who averaged 19.7 points and 4.0 assists in 30 starts in 2007-08. Over the last 11 seasons, only guards Salim Stoudamire (12.8 ppg/2001-02), Mustafa Shakur (9.2 ppg) and Bayless logged more minutes and averaged more points in their freshman seasons than Johnson, and that trio accounted for 3,870 points in nine combined collegiate seasons.

GRADUATION: Perhaps the best note of the season is the one that came last: all five of Arizona's basketball seniors – Kyle Fogg, Alex Jacobson, Brendon Lavender, Jesse Perry and Dondre Wise – completed their degree requirements in May. That all five members of the 2012 senior class completed the task is the most on record in any one season since 1983-84. Since becoming a head coach eight seasons ago, 22 of 23 student-athletes to complete their eligibility under Sean Miller have earned their degrees, including six of the seven seniors in the last three years at Arizona.

RECRUITING CLASS: The Arizona coaching staff signed four student-athletes to National-Letters-of-Intent as part of the November early signing period and added two more signees in the spring. Brandon Ashley (F, 6-8, 215) from Oakland, Calif., who preps at Findlay Prep in Henderson, Nev.; Grant Jerrett (F, 6-10, 220) from LaVerne, Calif., who preps at LaVerne Lutheran H.S.; Kaleb Tarczewski (C, 7-0, 220) from Southborough, Mass., who preps at St. Mark's School; and Gabe York (G, 6-1, 170) from Orange, Calif., who preps at Orange Lutheran H.S.; inked in the fall, while Matt Korcheck (F, 6-9, 218) from Tucson, Ariz., who attended Cochise College; T.J. McConnell (G, 6-1, 185) from Pittsburgh, Pa., who attended Duquesne University; and Mark Lyons (G, 6-1, 188) from Schenectady, N.Y., who attended Xavier University; make up a class that was ranked No. 3 nationally by espn.com and rivals.com.

To the Next Level

With the 2011-12 National Basketball Association season now nearing completion, no fewer than 11 former Arizona Wildcats have appeared on active NBA rosters. That figure is eighth-best nationally in terms of production. Here is the complete list: Gilbert Arenas, Memphis Grizzlies; Jerryd Bayless, Toronto Raptors; Mike Bibby, New York Knicks; Chase Budinger, Houston Rockets; Channing Frye, Phoenix Suns; Jordan Hill, Los Angeles Lakers; Andre Iguodala, Philadelphia 76ers; Richard Jefferson, Golden State Warriors; Jason Terry, Dallas Mavericks, Luke Walton, Cleveland Cavaliers, and Derrick Williams, Minnesota Timberwolves. There have been at least eight former Wildcats in the NBA in each of the last 12 seasons with 10 or more in nine of those campaigns.

Arizona opened the second half with a 16-3 burst to break things open en route to a nine-point win. The Cats were 6-of-11 from the field in the run that covered the first 8:08, but forced the Crusaders to miss all eight shots and commit five turnovers in the span. With three players in double figures, Arizona built as much as a 20-point lead in the game. Kyle Fogg led Arizona with 16 points, while Jesse Perry added 14 points and 10 rebounds.

Nov. 9, 2011 • Tucson, Ariz.

Arizona enjoyed a similar storyline yet again, as the Cats endured a sluggish first half, enjoyed a strong second-half run to take control and held on in the end. And once again, Jordin Mayes was in the middle of things, scoring 14 of his career-high 19 points in the second half, including eight points in a key 13-2 run over 2:47 late in the period. Jesse Perry (11) and Solomon Hill (9) combined for 20 of UA's 43 boards on the way to a +11 margin on the glass.

Nov. 18, 2011 • New York, N.Y.

Mississippi State put its size and experience to good use in posting a 10-point win. The Bulldogs held a 38-24 advantage in points in the paint and a 13-7 lead in turnover points, while limiting Arizona to just 40.4 percent shooting. MSU never trailed in the contest, weathering seven separate possessions where UA had a chance to take the lead but couldn't convert. Jesse Perry collected his fourth double-double of the season and was named to the all-tournament team.

Kyle Fogg hit three treys in the first 2:24 of the second half to spur a 10-2 burst that essentially put the game out of reach. Both teams struggled from the floor, but Arizona's long-range touch proved to be the difference as six of the Cats' 10 second-half field goal came from behind the arc. UA outrebounded NAU, 29-26, collected 15 assists and had a season-low seven turnovers. Solomon Hill led all scorers with 15 points, while Fogg finished with 11.

Solomon Hill's three free throws with four seconds remaining in regulation forced an extra period, but Florida sank 8-of-12 free throws in overtime to pull away. UA led by seven points with 6:12 to go in the second half and withstood a 14-4 Florida run before Hill's momentary heroics. Turnovers and rebounding ultimately spelled doom for the Cats, as the Gators enjoyed a +6 margin in turnover points and a +13 margin in second-chance points. Jesse Perry tallied a career-high 23 points to lead the Cats.

Game 10

Arizona 63, Clemson 47 Fiesta Bowl Classic Dec. 10, 2011 • Tucson, Ariz.

Arizona shot it well, held its own on the glass and made key plays when it needed in a 16-point win. Led by Nick Johnson and Solomon Hill, UA shot better than 50 percent from the field for the second time this season and limited the Tigers to 32 percent accuracy. After Clemson cut an 18-point deficit to seven late in the second half, Hill dropped in four straight points in the paint and Johnson added four of his own to push the margin back to 15. Johnson was named Fiesta Bowl Classic MVP.

Game 20

Colorado 64, Arizona 63

Jan. 21, 2012 • Boulder, Colo.

In a tightly contested game that featured 10 ties and 10 lead changes, Arizona did just about everything it could to win except to make shots. UA outrebounded Colorado, 44-35, including an 18-9 edge offensively, and got to the free throw line 30 times, but could not overcome 34.5 percent shooting, a figure that included 3-of-20 shooting from three-point range. UA rallied from a five-point deficit with 3:52 to go but could not convert a game-winner on the final possession.

Game 21

Arizona 85, Washington State 61

Jan. 26, 2012 • Tucson, Ariz.

Kyle Fogg scored 18 of his 20 points in the first half and ignited a 22-9 run over the last 8:28 of the period as UA cruised to the 24-point win. Fogg scored 10 of those points in the run, as the Cats outshot and outrebounded the Cougs, while forcing 17 turnovers. UA shot better than 50 percent from the field for the first time in Pac-12 play and committed just nine turnovers. Solomon Hill added 17 points and 11 boards.

Game 22

Washington 69, Arizona 67

Jan. 28, 2012 • Tucson, Ariz.

Washington's offensive balance and key plays down the stretch offset a monster effort by Solomon Hill, as the Huskies held on for a two-point win. UW's Terrence Ross hit a jumper with 52 seconds to go and Tony Wroten blocked a potential game-tying lay-up with one second remaining to surpass Hill, who scored 19 of his career-high 28 points in the second half, including eight of UA's last 12 points in the game's final 2:43.

Game 23

Arizona 78, California 74

Feb. 2, 2012 • Berkeley, Calif.

Trailing 22-9 with 10:43 to go in the first half, Arizona responded with a 36-12 run to close the period and take control of the contest. The Wildcats hit 13 of 14 shots to close the first half en route to 54.9 percent shooting for the game. Cal made a run late, coming from 14 points down to tie the game, but Arizona never lost the lead as Kyle Fogg's trey with 1:23 to go put the Cats ahead for good. Fogg finished with a game-high 23 points, while Jesse Perry added 18 of his own.

Game 24

Arizona 56, Stanford 43

Feb. 4, 2012 • Palo Alto, Calif.

A 12-2 Arizona run over 4:29 of the second half broke open a tight game and gave the Cats its first road sweep of the season. Arizona limited Stanford to 25.4 percent shooting for the game, including 22.6 percent in the second half, and outrebounded the Cardinal, 43-40. Keyed by the run, UA made seven of its last eight shots from the field, while Stanford connected on just two of its last 13 attempts. Kyle Fogg led all scorers with 14 points, while Josiah Turner and Nick Johnson combined for 14 rebounds.

Arizona 71, Colorado 27

Feb. 9, 2012 • Tucson, Ariz.

Solomon Hill, Jesse Perry and Kyle Fogg combined for 48 points and 30 rebounds to lead Arizona to the 14-point win. Hill and Perry were frontline stand-outs, combining to make 12-of-21 shots and each registering a double-double, as the Wildcats posted a +12 rebound advantage. Fogg scored four points in a 12-3 burst midway through the second half that gave UA breathing room, and Arizona capitalized on a 26-9 edge in scoring from the free throw line.

Game 26

Arizona 70, Utah 61

Feb. 11, 2012 • Tucson, Ariz.

Arizona found itself in an early 13-point deficit and spent much of the rest of the game digging itself out of that hole. Led by Nick Johnson and Brendon Lavender, who combined to score 24 points on 8-of-11 shooting in the second half, UA outscored Utah 45-28 in the period with Johnson's trey at 1:24 giving Arizona the lead for good. The Wildcats outscored the Utes 17-6 from the line and turned 15 UU miscues into 15 turnover points, including 13 in the second half.

Game 27

Arizona 76, Washington State 72

Feb. 16, 2012 • Pullman, Wash.

It was the Wildcat offense that got a chance to rise to the occasion, as the squad shot 60 percent from the floor in the second half and hit its free throws down the stretch in a four-point road win. Kyle Fogg collected his first career double-double (16 pts./10 reb.), leading a slew of six Cats with eight or more points. In a game that featured 11 ties and 11 lead changes, it was free throws that settled it, as UA was 7-of-7 in the last five minutes, while WSU hit just 3-of-7.

Game 30

Arizona 65, UCLA 63

Jan. 25, 2012 • Tucson, Ariz.

On Arizona's Senior Day, Kyle Fogg saved his best for last as the Wildcats rallied for the win. Fogg scored 16 of his game-high 20 points in the second half, including 13 in the final six minutes, igniting a 17-7 UA run in 5:08 of that span that allowed the Cats to take the lead - capped by a Fogg trey with 53 ticks remaining. Arizona used its quickness to get to the line, outscoring UCLA 23-11 at the stripe, to offset the Bruins' +12 advantage in points in the paint. Jesse Perry and Solomon Hill added 18 and 13 points, respectively.

Game 31

Arizona State 87, Arizona 80

March 4, 2012 • Tempe, Ariz.

In a game featuring 11 ties and 22 lead changes, Arizona State displayed the poise necessary in the second half to pull away late. The Sun Devils quickly erased a six-point halftime deficit, shot 60 percent from the floor, sank 16-of-17 free throws and committed just two turnovers in the period. In a one-point game with 51 seconds to go, ASU went 6-of-6 from the line to decide things. Kyle Fogg's 23 points led Arizona.

Game 32

(4) Arizona 66, (5) UCLA 58

Pacific Life Pac-12 Tournament Quarterfinal
March 8, 2012 • Los Angeles, Calif.

Solomon Hill, Jesse Perry and Kyle Fogg combined for 55 of Arizona's 66 points to lead the Cats. UA practically lived at the free throw line, connecting on 31-of-36 in the contest, including 24-of-27 in the second half. Arizona led for 38:26 of this contest, but it was four freebies by Hill with just under six minutes to go after the Bruins had tied it that gave the Cats the lead for good. Hill and Perry each posted double-doubles and helped UA control the glass, 39-30. Nick Johnson tallied four blocks for the Cats.

Game 33

(4) Arizona 72, (9) Oregon State 61

Pacific Life Pac-12 Tournament Semifinal
March 9, 2012 • Los Angeles, Calif.

Trailing 34-27 at halftime, Arizona opened the second half on a 20-3 run over 8:04 to take control of the game. All five Wildcats contributed in the run, as the quintet hit 7-of-10 shots from the floor, while limiting OSU to 1-of-15 shooting during the run. UA shot 61 percent from the field after the break, held the Beavers to 27 percent shooting, and outrebounded OSU 21-16 in the second period. Jesse Perry posted his second consecutive double-double with 16 points and 11 rebounds, while Kyle Fogg added a game-high 22 points and eight boards. Nick Johnson chipped in with nine points and five assists.

Game 34

(6) Colorado 53, (4) Arizona 51

Pacific Life Pac-12 Tournament Championship
March 10, 2012 • Los Angeles, Calif.

After finding itself down by 12 points with 9:09 remaining, Arizona rallied but could not convert a game-winning trey at the buzzer. UA climbed back in by forcing CU to miss nine consecutive field goal attempts down the stretch, but it was not enough to overcome the Buffs, who outrebounded Arizona, 37-29, and limited the Cats to 36.7 percent shooting. Kyle Fogg, who led Arizona with 14 points, was joined on the all-tournament team by Jesse Perry and Solomon Hill.

Game 35

(8) Bucknell 65, (1) Arizona 54

National Invitation Tournament, First Round
March 14, 2012 • Tucson, Ariz.

Following a similar script, Arizona fell behind by double digits, only to rally and fall just short at the end. UA tailed 52-42 with 6:17 to go before cutting the deficit to two points with 2:59 before Bucknell closed the game on a 9-0 run. UA shot just 35 percent from the field, including 32 percent in the second half, and the Bison turned a 36-28 rebound bulge into a +6 margin in second-chance points. Solomon Hill posted a double-double and Jesse Perry added 14 points, but the rest of the Cats combined to shoot 7-of-27 from the floor.
