Hillenbrand Aquatic Center

Arizona recently received an upgrade to its Hillenbrand Aquatic Center. As part of the $16 million project to build a new practice facility for basketball and volleyball, a new world-class diving/water polo pool was also installed. The main donor for the project was former Arizona Basketball player, Richard Jefferson, who pledged $3.5 million to the overall construction. Jefferson's gift is one of the largest individual donations to the University of Arizona athletics department and is also believed to be the largest given by a current professional athlete to his alma mater.

The new state-of-the-art diving structure and pool features two 1-meter and three 3-meter Maxiflex Model "B" springboards on concrete short stands. The structure has platform heights of 3, 5, 7.5, and 10 meters, each with Rough-Tex surfacing. The pool has built-in spray surface agitation and an air-sparging system under all platforms and two of the 3-meter springboards.

Immersed 17 feet under the surface of the water is an Arizona "Block A" in the new diving pool.

The new diving tower features two 1-meter and three 3-meter Maxiflex Model "B" springboards on concrete short stands as well as platform heights of 3, 5, 7.5, and 10 meters, each with Rough-Tex surfacing.

New equipment such as the digital video replay systems for both the springboards and platforms are sure to be a welcomed addition to both divers and fans alike. Another amenity fans are sure to enjoy is the expandable seating made to accommodate over 800 fans, as well as the Colorado Timing Systems full-color, high-resolution scoreboard.

In between dives, the competitors will have access to the new walk-in hot tub and on-deck hot showers so they can prepare for their next event.

Russ Bertram, the Arizona swimming and diving aquatics director, was a vital component in the completion of the project.

"I am very proud of what the University of Arizona has created here," said Bertram. "This addition to the Aquatic Center will provide great opportunities to host exciting national and world level events. It is certainly one of the finest training and competitive diving venues in the world; and the perfect stage to showcase our national championship team."

The new diving pool is 25 meters across (at dive equipment end) by 33 meters long, 17 feet deep, and holds 1.2 million gallons of water. It contains a fully recessed gutter system that is 12 inches from water line up to deck level.

The pool was built to meet all NCAA and Olympic specifications for Swimming, Diving and Water Polo. This world class facility will surely be a key asset for the Wildcats in their quest for another NCAA championship.

New digital replay systems will be enjoyed by both fans and divers.

Construction crews are just putting the finishing touches on the walk-in hot tub.

2008-09 Men's Team Preview

Last season, the Arizona men's swimming and diving program was able to overcome every challenge thrown its way and achieve its first NCAA championship. If the team wants to do it again, several newcomers will be counted on in big situations.

"We graduated some tremendous athletes," said UA head coach Frank Busch. "You don't graduate two individual national champions and expect some freshman to be able to come in and match that right away."

Although this year's men's team doesn't have the accolades earned on the way to the championship last season, Busch believes his 2008-09 team has what it takes to compete nationally.

"There's just something special about this group," said Busch. "They won't have a lot of pressure as our women will have, but the All-Americans that we do have returning on the men's side are some of the best in the world."

The All-Americans that Busch talks about are juniors Jean Basson, Joel Greenshields and Jake Tapp along with senior Nicolas Nilo — all of whom competed this summer in the Beijing Olympics.

Joel Greenshields

"Even with losing the type of athletes from the previous year's team, we have some tremendous talent coming back. They are absolutely capable of achieving a lot of success. International experience is always a great way of learning"

Sophomore Corey Chitwood and junior Marcus Titus, runners-up in the 200 backstroke and 100 breaststroke at the NCAA Championships, respectively, also will weigh heavily on what the Cats accomplish this year.

As for the incoming freshman class, Busch doesn't want to put expectations on their shoulders, but is excited to see how they perform on the collegiate level.

"I know our freshman are anxious to prove to everyone on the team that they are capable of doing what maybe no one thinks they can do."

Ben Grado will lead the men's diving team this year after being named the Pac-10 Diving Newcomer of the Year.

The roster may not include any NCAA individual champions, but the Wildcats might have just as much talent and experience as anyone in the nation and look to be the last team standing yet again in 2009.

The best part about Arizona is our team unity and collective desire to succeed. In a sport that requires so much devotion and hard work, it is extremely motivating to know that each team member is striving for the same goal. Whether it be our morning running sessions, a workout in the weight room, or a hard set in the pool, the team is constantly and actively encouraging, which allows each member to realize his or her fullest potential.

My most memorable team moment came during the 2008 NCAA Championships when we won the 400 Freestyle Relay. Our entire team was standing on the bleachers lining the side of the pool to cheer on the relay members during the final event of the meet. As Joel Greenshields swam the final leg to overtake the Auburn swimmer, I remember my teammates and I jumping so hard on the bleachers that the bench almost snapped off.

Role Models: My Parents

I decided to swim at the University of Arizona based on the team atmosphere and the devotion to detail by the coaching staff. Unlike many teams, the men and women practice together which provides for a unique environment in which we are dependent upon each other for motivation and support. The coaches also cater well to the personalities and diverse backgrounds of each individual in order to maximize his or her potential. I would not trade training in Tucson for anything, because there is nothing like swimming outdoors, whether it be the middle of summer or the dead of winter.

Arizona has always had a huge amount of success when it comes to foreign athletes, and in particular with South African swimmers. Arizona has had a huge influence in the success of swimming in South Africa and I believe the South African swimmers have played a huge part in developing the traditions of pride and success which exist here today. This legacy, along with the first impression I had of Coach Frank Busch upon meeting him at World Championships made me realize that there was no other place I would rather be.

It can be really easy to improve here at Arizona. All you have to do is take advantage of all of the areas available to you to make yourself as good as you can possibly be. I have focused most of my energy on working as hard as possible in the pool by racing everyone around me in practice every day. There is honestly always someone who can push you to be better every time you jump into the water. I have also been heavily influenced by the amazing integrity and personalities of all the coaches on the Arizona staff. By learning from them I have become a better person and therefore have become a better athlete.

Easily, it has to be watching our team win the 400 Free Relay to cap off our NCAA National Championship. At that point in the meet, we knew we had won the NCAA championship, but to watch Joel Green-shields come back and defeat the reigning national champions Auburn on the last relay, it was absolutely crazy. Everyone began to go absolutely insane. It was unbelievably surreal and just symbolized the changing of the guard as we ended their national championship streak.

Winning a national championship wouldn't have meant anything compared to being able to share it with the people you consider your family. That's what makes Arizona so incredible, the moment you come in, you're inducted into something that is so much bigger than just a swim team, you're accepted into a brotherhood.

Deciding to become an Arizona Wildcat was an easy decision because of the opportunity to work with world class coaches as well as swim with some of the best in the sport. The best things about Arizona are the family like structure of the team, quality of the University and the amazing weather in Tucson. So far my best experience being a Wildcat was going to the 2008 NCAA Championship, it was perhaps the most inspiring event I have experienced.

Arizona has a unique pedigree of international talent, which has recently come to prowess. From the people I knew in and around the team, I wanted to be involved in a team that achieves the perfect balance between intensity and informality.

Besides dropping times, I find my kick has improved; kicking much deeper, and my overall feel in the water has been tweaked and toned for the yards pool. The technicalities of racing are always on my radar, with emphasis on dives and turns. Primarily, however, the atmosphere on the team gives each swimmer a confidence boost every time you race.

A most memorable team moment for me would be when my club team won YMCA National Championships. It was the first time I had competed in a competition and not only done well as an individual but also as a men and women's team.

I would have to say the main reason I am attending The University of Arizona is for the swimming and diving program. As NCAA Champions I am proud to be able to represent Arizona in the NCAA Pac 10 Conference.

My most memorable team moment was this past March winning the NCAA Division I national championship. We had talked about winning the meet all season and to actually achieve it was a dream come true. The meet was so exciting and action packed and I'll never forget the last relay, the 4x100 freestyle relay, when we knew we were going to win, but we wanted to put the icing on the cake and we came from behind to win the relay on the last leg, which just sent us into a wild frenzy on the pool deck and then later jumping in the pool with all of my teammates. That will always be my most memorable moment.

I can't say I have one particular most memorable swim moment, but one that is always fun to think about is from my freshmen year. Coach Rick "Rocket" DeMont has an annual tradition about a week before NCAA's where he brings out a big white board and tells us what times we will swim the following week at the NCAA championships. Notice I say "tells us," he doesn't predict, he just knows. My freshmen year he started off going event by event swimmer by swimmer writing down all of the times he felt we would go. He got to me and predicted I would split a 19.20 on the 4x50 free relay. At that time my best from a flat start was probably about a 20 point low. I remember thinking, "I wish!" But as the meet went on I noticed 99% of the times Rocket wrote down on that white board were becoming reality, this really got me pumped to keep the streak going and low and behold when it was my turn to swim I split a 19.20. The kind of sixth sense of the coaches at Arizona is amazing, they are constantly watching and adapting to our swimming and know exactly what we are capable of, whether we know it or not.

2008-09 Women's Team Preview

Coming off a year in which the program won its first NCAA title, Arizona head coach Frank Busch and his staff would like nothing better than to do it again. This year's women's team could possibly do just that. With 24 letterwinners returning, including 12 All-Americans, the Cats' biggest weapon may once again be its tremendous depth.

"We have everyone that scored points for us during NAAs returning except Lacey Nymeyer and Jacquelyn Craft," Busch said. "Now losing Lacey will be a big hurdle for our program, but the amount of depth in our women's program is tremendous."

With an abundance of experience back, Busch believes the team will begin the year as one of the favorites.

"When the first rankings come out this season, I'd be very surprised if Arizona wasn't listed at the top," said Busch. "I think our girls expect that and would be disappointed if they weren't listed as the favorites."

As confident as the team is heading into the 2008-09 season, Busch remains careful not to let the team become satisfied with the accomplishments of last season.

"What does being ranked no. 1 mean? It basically means that we had success in the past and we need to figure out how to have it again," said Busch. "We can't think that what we did last year will be good enough this year."

Individuals the Cats will count on this season include seniors Lara Jackson, Taylor Baughman and Hailey DeGolia along with juniors Annie Chandler, Ana Agy and Caitlin Iversen.

"Lara Jackson, who is a returning national champion, will be key for us this year along with a lot of our returning girls on the relay teams," said Busch. "Taylor Baughman will be counted on again in the freestyle relays along with Annie Chandler and Hailey DeGolia in the medley relays."

A few newcomers that will help Arizona in its quest to repeat as champions include Auburn-transfer Julie Stupp and freshmen Alyssa Anderson.

"Stupp and Anderson were both finalists in a few events at the Olympic Trials, so they bring a tremendous amount of accomplishment to our program," Busch said.

For the women divers, they will look to provide a vital component to the overall team strength. Freshman Ainsley Oliver is expected to be one of the key members along with sophomores Samantha Kunk.

Arizona is poised for another NCAA run in what will prove to be an exciting season at the Hillenbrand Aquatic Center.

Swimming for the University of Arizona has given me the opportunity to share many unique experiences with a special group of people. I will never forget winning the 800 free relay at the 2008 National Championships. Feeding off the energy of our teammates, Lacey, Justine, Leo and I came together to accomplish something greater than ourselves. Winning that relay was one of the moments that sealed the deal in our conquest of the team title last year. What an honor it is to stand on the top podium with a group of women and coaches that you have total love and respect for.

I knew the second I got off the plane on my recruiting trip and almost the entire team was waiting for me at the airport that I wanted to come here. Our team unity is definitely my favorite thing about Arizona. The coaching staff and team make hard work fun and the rewards are well worth it. It is nearly impossible to pinpoint just one thing that makes Arizona swim/dive special, but if I had to say, it would be our coaching staff. They put so much positive energy into this team. Whether it is running stadiums with us, or running down the pool next to us, their love for the team and the sport is contagious.

I came to the University of Arizona for many reasons. The most important factor was the coaching staff. I could tell from the very first moment I met all of them that they were going to do everything in their power to make me the best possible swimmer. I knew that I could put all of my trust into their hands. The best thing about Arizona is having the feeling that you're part of another family, and for me, that was extremely important considering I came from across the country. I have learned many things during the two years I have been a part of the Wildcat family. I have learned what hard work, dedication, and sacrifice means. I have learned that every single person on this team wants the same thing. I have learned to hold yourself accountable in every aspect of life. This team has not only made me a better swimmer, but a better person.

Celebrating the 2008 Team NCAA title was indescribable. NCAA's in its entirety was blissful. However, watching our girls dominate in the 800 free relay from lane 8 is frozen in my mind. It was utter chaos in the bleachers after Coach Busch told us we had something special going. Jessica Embick started crying, she was so ecstatic as Baughman touched the wall to establish a new NCAA record in an event we were seeded 8th in. The shock and joy seen on my teammates' and coaches' faces is a memory that will never fade.

The most memorable team moment that I have had here at Arizona is when we jumped into the Ohio State pool after winning the NCAA championships. We were all singing "Bear Down" while crying tears of joy. It was such an amazing moment that I will always cherish. Here at Arizona I have improved on many aspects in the course of only one year. My attitude about swimming and staying positive has improved the most, which has helped me in hard practices and at meets. I have improved in this area by being around my coaches and teammates, because they are all so positive and full of life. The best thing about Arizona has to be the family atmosphere. The team and coaching staff spend so much time together that we become a family. Everyone is behind everyone and would do anything for their teammates.

Being the youngest in a family of six, I wanted to find a college with a family atmosphere. I came to Arizona not only for the program's consistency in improving all swimmers, but also to become a part of the extended Busch family, which includes the past, present, and future Wildcats. I'd have to say that the most memorable team moment since I have been a part of this team was at the 2008 NCAA Championships, where we won our first National Team title. It was an amazing and long awaited accomplishment and I am blessed to have been able to be a part of something so special. I didn't even want to take my recruiting trip down to Arizona my senior year in high school because I was so set on going to another university, but once I stepped off the plane in Tucson I was in a whole new world. I eventually ended up committing on my trip and found myself here a year later, and I never once looked back or questioned my reasons for coming here. Everything from the coaches to my teammates, men's and women's teams, create this unique bond that I can guarantee you will never find anywhere else. I haven't just learned a lot about my swimming, but I have learned a lot about myself and have seen myself grow over the past three years. I believe that I have gotten better here at Arizona over the past three years for a few reasons, and it definitely all starts with the coaches. Coach Busch tells us that by the end of our careers, whether that is in 4 years or 40, you will learn to be your own best coach. I am constantly learning about myself and my stroke, what works and what doesn't, and I am always pushing myself to be the best I can be. Every single one of us wants to succeed and see the person in the lane next to us succeed to our fullest potential, so we push each other in and out of the pool day in and day out, while still maintaining this family atmosphere and that, that is something really special.

One major reason I came to Arizona was because of the natural family atmosphere. It wasn't a forced family but one where everyone truly cared for the team as a whole and wanted it to achieve the best possible. I felt they really supported each other at necessary times but then also competed and pushed each other in order to improve. I dreamed of diving for Coach Mitchell ever since I was a young diver. When I was a member of the Tucson Diving Team, I would try to get to practice early enough to see the college divers work out. They were my diving heroes and I wanted to be just like them. This dream even intensified when my sister Toni became a Wildcat diver. My dream became a reality last year. As Michele had always instilled in me, I learned that hard work eventually pays off. This is one of the reasons the UA seemed the right place for me. Michele values a good work ethic over just raw talent. I appreciate that and hope to live up to it. The first time I walked into the weight room at the UA, I was amazed to see on the wall just that sentiment; in big red letters it states "Hard work beats talent when talent doesn't work hard." That is what I try to keep in mind everyday at practice.

"Dream Big" and "Believe" are words which provide inspiration to my life. My philosophy on life consists of living life to the fullest! Never be afraid to jump at opportunities which are presented because it is difficult to live with regret. One cannot change the past, but we can do our best to shape our future. When I was presented with the idea of becoming part of the Arizona Wildcat team, I jumped at the opportunity. The reason why I came to the University of Arizona is because of its established and highly recognized academic and athletic programs. Although I had never been to the desert or seen a cactus before in my life, I knew that the University of Arizona was where I wanted to be. Coming into my freshman year, I had no idea what I was getting into. I had chosen Arizona because I knew it had a great history of making swimmers faster. My goals were purely individual goals and I had no concept of "team." As my freshman year began, I realized that the team culture was so overwhelming that there was no way to ignore it. From goal meetings to running stadiums to singing "Bear Down" at Pac-10s and NCAA's, everything is about learning to push yourself to the limit for your team and knowing without a doubt that your teammates will do the same for you.

While of course winning our first national championship on the women's and then the men's side will forever be engrained as two of my most favorite team memories, I feel those two moments are only a side-note to the millions of moments that led up to us winning. I don't have one single most memorable moment, but a million little ones. Rocket's crazy, eccentric, positive energy for 6am sprint group workouts, running as a team down the mall in 105 degrees, figuring out what it takes to win, Frank's guttural sounds during abs, Rhody's jokes, Augie's singing, Bill's artwork, Christmas training, celebrating, and just the day to day monotony of what we do, and how we seem to make it enjoyable most of the time are just a few of the many memories I will walk away with and cherish always.

My most memorable team moment was the dual meet at Cal in 2008. It was an awful day in Berkeley because it was cold and rainy. The women's team came together that morning and got fired up in a way I've never seen before. Literally putting mind over matter. The team stayed warm and focused and won both the men's and women's scores.

Head Swim Coach Frank Busch

Head Swim Coach
20th Year at Arizona
Loyola (Ill.), 1973

On March 22 of the 2007-2008 collegiate swim season, the all too familiar refrain "the best program in the country without a national championship ring" was put to rest. On that evening, just two hours away from the hometown of Coach Frank Busch, the Women Wildcats of Arizona captured their first NCAA team title. It was a weekend of dominance, with an intensity fueled by three prior second-place finishes.

One week later, against remarkable odds, the Arizona Men's team upset Texas and Auburn to win its first national championship trophy. In doing so, Arizona became only the second team in NCAA swimming history in which both men and women, coached by the same staff, swept championship titles in the same season.

Other historic markers fell during those combined six days of competition. Arizona became the first team to win eight out of a possible ten championship relays. Five of those relays set NCAA meet records and four were American records as well. Although four Arizona athletes claimed individual titles, the meets were won with a "team-first" mantra. Coach Busch accurately predicted that the 2007-2008 teams would have the "deep talent" necessary to score repeatedly through all 16 places; ultimately this depth accounted for the combined winning margin of 230 points.

Now entering his 20th year as Arizona's head coach, Frank Busch began his coaching career under unlikely circumstances. At age 16, when he and his summer league teammates arrived for the first practice with no coach in sight, Busch volunteered for the vacancy. After 7 summers (1967-1974), Busch began a four year career with the Northern Kentucky Piranhas (1974-1978), followed by a year with the senior program of the Cincinnati Marlins. Busch began his long service in the college coaching ranks at the University of Cincinnati (1980-1989), where both teams broke into the Division I Top 20.

Although it was a long march to the summit of the sport, predictions of success became louder each year. Consistent Top 10 finishes gave rise to a steady presence in the Top 5. From 1991 on, each season produced at least one individual or relay champion. Entering the current season, Arizona has captured 43 individual titles and 27 relay titles.

Coaching honors have accompanied Arizona's steady rise to national prominence. Coach Busch has been named NCAA Coach of the Year six times and is an 11-time Pac-Ten Coach of the Year. In 1998, Busch was named Coach of the Year by both USA Swimming and the United States Olympic Committee. He has been selected by United States Swimming to serve on numerous coaching staffs, including the 2004 and 2008 Olympics.

Busch and his wife, Patty, have five adult children: Frank (33) is an attorney in Scottsdale, AZ; Augie (32) is an assistant on the Arizona coaching staff; Peter (29) is a reporter for the CBS affiliate in Phoenix. Peter and his wife, Rachel, welcomed the first Busch grandchild, Tori, in May 2008. Molly (27), along with Patty, recently completed a documentary about the '06-'07 UA Swimming & Diving season. Sam (25) is a local high school head coach and is on the coaching staff of the U of A club affiliate, Ford Aquatics. All five Busch children, as well as Patty and Rachel, have degrees from Arizona.

Rick DeMont
Associate Head Coach
21st Year at Arizona
Arizona, 1979

A former standout swimmer at the University of Arizona, associate head coach Rick DeMont is beginning his 21st season as a member of the Wildcat coaching staff. DeMont was named an assistant coach to the South African men's swim team at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia, the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece, and the 2008 Games in Beijing, China.

DeMont, a four-year All-American, began his collegiate swimming career at the University of Washington from 1973-75. As a freshman at UW, he finished second in the 1650 freestyle and fourth in the 400 individual medley at the NCAA Championships. A two-year and eight-time All-America selection at UA, DeMont swam for the Wildcats from 1977-79.

DeMont is a former world record holder in the 1500m freestyle (1972), the 400m freestyle (1973) and the 4x100 freestyle relay (1977). He collected numerous titles during his swim career, including National, Pan-American, World and Olympic champion. Following his senior year in high school, he was named World Swimmer of the Year. DeMont also pioneered negative split swimming (swimming a faster second half of a race than the first).

At the 1972 Olympic Games, DeMont was stripped of a gold medal in the 400m freestyle, when it was discovered he had unknowingly taken asthma medication containing the banned drug ephedrine. The next year, at the World Championships in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, DeMont erased all doubts of his greatness with an unprecedented performance. He swam a world record in the 400m free and, in the process, became the first man in history to swim that race in less than four minutes. To this day, he is still struggling to regain the medal from the International Olympic Committee. DeMont was rewarded for his athletic accomplishments in 1990, as he was inducted into the International Swimming Hall of Fame.

Long considered a world-renowned sprint freestyle coach, DeMont has been the subject of feature stories and up-and-coming swimming technique articles in numerous publications, such as Swimming World, Swim Technique and Splash magazines. In the late 1980s, DeMont was inducted into the World Swimming Hall of Fame. During his tenure with the UA program, he has coached an amazing 21 U.S. Swimming and NCAA individual national champions, as well as numerous national champion relay squads. In September of 1999, DeMont was inducted into the University of Arizona Athletic Hall of Fame and in April 2008 he was inducted into the Bay Area Sports Hall of Fame.

DeMont, 52, is also an artist whose paintings have been shown in local and national galleries, and some of his work can be seen on the walls of offices in Arizona's athletics department. DeMont has three daughters, Angela (23) who is a UA alum, Tierra (3) and Jordan (four months). He and his wife, Carrie, reside in Tucson.

Head Diving Coach Dr. Michele Mitchell

Head Diving Coach
13th Year at Arizona
Arizona, 1983

The most decorated diver in Arizona history, Dr. Michele Mitchell is set to begin her 13th season with the Wildcat diving program.

Mitchell won silver medals on the 10-meter platform at both the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles and the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, Korea. She was inducted into the University of Arizona Athletic Hall of Fame in 1988 and the International Swimming Hall of Fame in 1995.

A four-time All-America selection during her collegiate career from 1979-83, Mitchell's accomplishments also include being a Sullivan Award nominee in 1986, a nine-time U.S. national champion, the 1985 World FINA Cup champion, the 1987 Pan American Games champion, a four-time U.S. Olympic Committee "Athlete of the Year" honoree, and the American record holder for platform diving, 479.40 points for an eight-dive list.

During Mitchell's tenure as the Arizona diving coach, her divers have accumulated 25 All-America honors and 12 Pac-10 titles. An Academic All-American herself while competing for the Wildcats, Mitchell's UA divers have earned multiple CoSIDA Academic All-America honors. Lindsay Berryman was a second-team Academic All-American in both 1999 and 2001, Claire Febvay earned third-team Academic All-America laurels in 2003, and most recently, Daniela Bemme earned first-team All-American honors for platform diving at the 2004 NCAA Championships, and was an All-Academic Honorable Mention honoree.

Since taking over the Wildcat diving program, Mitchell has put UA diving on the map. Prior to her arrival, Arizona had recorded a total of just 10 NCAA top-16 finishes among the men and women combined since 1978. In Mitchell's 12 years at Arizona, the Cats have put up 15 top-16 finishes on the men's side and 11 on the women's. Omar Ojeda was runner-up in the 3-meter springboard at the 2001 NCAA Championships, the best-ever NCAA finish for a UA men's diver, and he was third on the platform.

In 1997, her first year at the helm of the program, Mitchell was named the Pac-10 Men's Diving Coach of the Year after guiding Jimmy Sjodin, who was also chosen the Pac-10 Men's Diver of the Year, to conference titles in both the platform and 3-meter. Due to the success of both Ojeda and Ruben Vaca, Mitchell was also chosen Pac-10 Men's Diving Coach of the Year in 2000, 2001 and 2002.

The UA women have excelled under Mitchell, as well. In 1999, Lindsay Berryman was named the Pac-10 Women's Diver of the Year, and a year later, Berryman won the conference title on the platform, becoming the first UA women's diver to garner a Pac-10 championship. In addition to the Wildcats' successful 2005-06 season, Tiffany Manning helped the women's team to a first-place finish at the 2006 Pac-10 championships by taking the 10-meter platform crown.

Mitchell has also shared her knowledge of the sport through television. Her television resume includes the 1992 Olympic Trials and the Barcelona Games, the 1994 and 1995 NCAA Women's Championships, and the 1993 World University Games. During the summer of 1996, she anchored the in-stadium radio broadcasts for diving at the Olympic Games in Atlanta and was the bungee jump analyst for the ESPN X-Games.

An avid promotional and motivational speaker, Mitchell's past clients include McDonald's, Nabisco, United States Diving, the U.S. Olympic Committee, as well as many civic and charitable organizations. She also holds positions on several committees and foundations, including the United States Diving Foundation, the USOC Athlete Support Committee, and the Women's Sports Foundation Grant Review Committee. Mitchell is currently serving on the NCAA Swimming and Diving Rules Committee. Mitchell is also on the UA Hall of Fame Committee and on the UA Equity and Student-Athlete Welfare Committee.

Mitchell earned her undergraduate degree in English, with a minor in Athletic Coaching and secondary education, from the University of Arizona in 1983. She received her master's degree in Sports Administration from Arizona in December of 2000 and earned her Ph.D. in Educational Psychology in May of 2007. She has a daughter, Ariana (13), and a son, Dakota (11.)

Russ Bertram
Aquatics Director
Fourth Year at Arizona
Indiana, 1989

Russ Bertram is in his fourth season at the University of Arizona and first as the aquatics director. In that position, he is responsible for the oversight of the multi-million dollar renovation and expansion of the Hillenbrand Aquatic Center, as well as the facility's day-to-day operations.

A five-time national champion as a diver, Bertram served as the national events director for USA Diving from 2001-04 and for eight years has been on the USA Diving board of directors. He served as a team administrator for USA Diving during the 2000 and 2004 Olympic Games.

Bertram was a 2008 U.S. Diving Olympic Trials judge, one of seven judges selected by USA Diving after a national search. Qualified judges must be certified through FINA, the sport's international governing body, and have international experience as a diving judge. Judges were then ranked by peers and the nation's elite-level diving coaches.

A native of Indianapolis, Bertram graduated from Indiana University in 1989.

Roric Fink
Volunteer Coach

Volunteer Roric Fink has been an assistant under Frank Busch with the Arizona swimming and diving program since 2003. When Fink isn't coaching at Arizona, he is the head coach for Ford Aquatics, a title he's held since September 2000. While in Tucson, he has produced and worked with numerous world class athletes including Lacey Nymeyer, Dave Rollins and Tyler DeBerry, who all came through the Ford program before going on to swim and win NCAA titles at Arizona.

Before coming to Tucson, Fink worked for the Phoenix Swim Club in Phoenix, Ariz. from January 1995 to August 2000. He worked with the National Team throughout that time and worked with Olympic athletes both in 1996 and 2000, including Jeff Rouse, Klete Keller, and Gary Hall Jr. Additionally, he has worked with numerous Olympic medalists, national record holders, and national champions during that period.

In addition, he has worked with many other athletes that were state champions, All-American swimmers, or nationally ranked. Many of Coach Fink's athletes have gone on to swim in college at a variety of levels, including Emily Mastin and Sarah Tolar, who have won NCAA Championships at the University of Arizona.

Fink graduated from the University of Phoenix in November 2000 with a Master's in Business Administration. He got his undergraduate degree from Whitworth College in March 1986 with a Bachelors in physical education, along with minors in both business and mathematics.

Locally, he has been coaching in Arizona since 1986, working with the following teams; Phoenix Swim Club (1/1995 to 8/2000), Rio Salado Swim Team (1991-1995), Phoenician Swim Club (1989-1991), Swim Devils (1986-1989), Arizona State University - Women's Team (1987-1988), and Marcos De Niza High School (1988, 1991-1994).

Bill Behrens
Volunteer Coach

After completing a stellar coaching career that spanned four decades (1962-2002), Bill Behrens agreed to join his former student, Frank Busch, for a winter season in Arizona. Captivated by the quest for an NCAA title, Bill returned as a valuable volunteer assistant on the Wildcat pool deck.

He is highly regarded as a skilled stroke technician and now coordinates the filming of athletes for technique training. Bill began his coaching career at St. Xavier High School in Cincinnati, where he coached Busch from 1965-1968. Behrens also coached junior and senior national swimmers in Florida and Georgia.

2007-08 Season In Review

The 2007-08 season turned magical for Frank Busch and the Arizona swimming and diving program. After 19 years and multiple top-10 finishes, both the men's and women's teams finally got over the hump and won the national championships that had eluded them in previous seasons.

Of the many key performances for both the men's and women's teams, the relays are what propelled each to their first respective national championship.

The women's team finished its dual match season with a record of 9-1 heading into the Pac-10 Championships in Long Beach, Calif. There, the Wildcats received many stand-out performances as they took the conference crown with 1,501 points.

After winning the Pac-10 title, the women's team headed back to Tucson to recharge in preparation for the NCAA Championships in Columbus, Ohio. Once in Columbus, the Arizona women proved they were far superior than their competition. As a harbinger of things to come, the 200 freestyle relay team of Lara Jackson, Lacey Nymeyer, Anna Turner and Taylor Baughman won the event and the Cats never looked back. Through five events the Cats built a lead of 111 points – a lead they would not relinquish over the course of the Championships.

In the 100 freestyle, UA had five swimmers place in the top 16 with Lacey Nymeyer winning the event with a time of 47.50 seconds.

In the final event of NCAA's, with the title already clinched, the Cats turned in a what probably was the most fulfilling moment of the season in winning the 400 freestyle relay. Arizona's final tally was 484 points, 136 points ahead of runner-up Auburn.

For the Arizona men, its path to the championship was slightly different than their female counterparts. The men went undefeated through its dual match season with key wins over Texas and Stanford. But when the Pac-10 Championships rolled around, the Cats faced tough competition from California and Stanford, and placed third overall.

Although they didn't win the conference championship, Busch's team had its sights set on the national title.

Once at the King County Aquatic Center, just outside of Seattle, Wash., then men, like the women's team did a week before, used its superior depth and terrific relay teams to pull ahead. It would not be as clear cut as it had been for the Wildcat women, as Texas and Stanford remained competitive.

Albert Subirats won the 100 butterfly and was on the 400 medley relay and 400 free relay championship relay teams to give him eight NCAA individual titles, one short of Ryk Neethling's record nine individual titles at Arizona.

In the final event, the 400 freestyle relay, the Cats used a furious finish by sophomore Joel Greenshields to seal the win for and title for Arizona.

"You don't get a lot of big times in life," said associate head coach Rick DeMont, "and that was one of the big times."

As much as the each squad is their own team, the entire Arizona swimming and diving program train together

"One of our strengths is the respect that each team has for one another," said Busch. "It was a dream come true for both teams to win it the same year as opposed to one team achieving the goal and one team still searching. I believe that happened because of the mutual respect shared among each team."

To cap the year, Busch was awarded NCAA Coach of the Year for both men's and women's swimming, Nymeyer won Pac-10 Female Swimmer of the Year and Ben Grado earned Pac-10 Diving Newcomer of the Year.

When asked if the success of one team had any relevance on the other, Busch replied that is the cornerstone of Arizona swimming and diving.

"The kids in this program are very proud to be part of such a tight-knit group," said Busch. "The men's and women's team do things together and are still capable of achieving goals as individual teams. That might not sound important but when it comes to competing for a national title it is strength of our program."

Athletic Excellence

The University of Arizona's Athletic excellence is rooted in a strong foundation of Wildcat heritage and history that dates back to the early 1900s. The Arizona Athletics program has produced countless All-Americans, all-conference honorees and NCAA team and individual titles throughout that span, ranking second to none in athletic excellence. The Wildcats have finished in the Top 30 of the Directors' Cup standing for 14 consecutive years dating back to the inception of the program in 1993-94.

The Wildcats boast three of the most successful programs in NCAA history – men's basketball, softball and swimming and diving. Under the guidance of Hall of Fame head coach Lute Olson, the men's basketball program has reached unprecedented heights with its 1997 NCAA Championship, four Final Four appearances and 11 Pac-10 Championships. The Wildcats also hold the longest active streak in the nation with 24 consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament. To his credit, Olson has added seven Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors to his list of accomplishments at Arizona. This year, Olson will enter his 25th season.

Under the guidance of head coach Mike Candrea, UA's softball program has achieved national prominence, as the Wildcats have won eight NCAA titles and ten Pac-10 titles. Candrea has led Arizona to 19 College World Series berths, and he has helped produce five National Players of the Year. Candrea has also earned Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors nine times since the league began softball play 21 years ago. The Wildcats won back-to-back national champions in 2006 and 2007, marking the third time the program accomplished the feat. During the 2007 title run, pitcher Taryne Mowatt was named WCWS Most Outstanding Player and won two ESPY Awards, including Best Female Athlete of the Year.

The swimming and diving program has produced more than 40 individual NCAA champions and an astounding 40 Olympians. In 2008, the Wildcats captured both the men's and women's national championships, the first titles for the respective programs. The women's team won by 136 points and became the first team ever to sweep all five relay events. In the process, the UA relay team set meet records in all five events, American NCAA and U.S. Open records in 200-yard freestyle, 400y, 200y medley, and 400y freestyle. A week later, the men's squad posted a win, scoring 500 points and besting second-place Texas by 94 points.

In 2008, swimming and diving Head Coach Frank Busch was named Men's Coach of the Year, for the sixth time, as well as Pac-10 Coach of the Year, for his eleventh. Busch was also awarded the first ever McKale Award as the UA Coach of the Year in 2007-08, voted on by Arizona student-athletes.

The baseball team won three NCAA titles in a span of 10 years – 1976, 1980 and 1986 – and returned to the World Series in 2004 for the first time in 18 years. The team has claimed three Pac-10 Conference titles since joining the league in 1979. The men's and women's golf teams have combined to tally three NCAA titles, 10 NCAA Regional titles and nine Pac-10 titles. Head coach Rick LaRose is a five time Pac-10 Coach of the Year honoree (four men/one women).

Former head coach Joan Bonvicini led the women's basketball team to seven NCAA Tournament appearances in 11 years, dating back to the program's first-ever NCAA berth in 1997. In April of 2008, Arizona named Niya Butts the program's eighth head coach.

The volleyball program made its 21st NCAA Tournament appearance in 2005, which also marked the team's 10th consecutive NCAA berth and 12th time overall in 17 seasons under head coach Dave Rubio.

Women's gymnastics has made 22 consecutive postseason appearances, the longest active postseason streak at Arizona behind men's basketball.

Track and field has produced several individual NCAA champions and Olympians including Liz Patterson. Patterson won a national title in the high jump for 2008. The soccer program has experienced unprecedented success under Head Coach Dan Tobias, advancing to the Sweet 16 in 2005. In 2004, the Wildcats won the Pac-10 championship and Tobias was named Pac-10 and National Coach of the Year by Soccer America.

On the football front, every Pac-10 school had bowl appearances in the 1990s, but Arizona's three bowl victories in that span were eclipsed by none. In 2004, head coach Mike Stoops took over the reigns of the program and has guided the Wildcats to upset victories over nationally ranked teams in each of the last three seasons.

The Wildcats also boast 10 Honda Award honorees – Tara Chaplin (cross country), Jenny Dalton (softball), Jenna Daniels (women's golf), Nancy Evans (softball), Jennie Finch (two-time winner/softball), Susie Parra (softball) and Amy Skieresz (three-time winner/cross country/track and field).

Athletics Facilities

The William G. and Dolores D. Hillenbrand Aquatic Center

The William G. and Dolores D. Hillenbrand Aquatic Center, dedicated in May of 1989, has a seating capacity of approximately 600. A catwalk that provides access to three sides of the pool at the grandstand level increases the total capacity of the facility to approximately 1,000 spectators.

Arizona Football Stadium

Considered one of the finest playing facilities in the country, Arizona Stadium was built in 1928 with only 7,000 seats and has grown into a 56,000-seat facility that combines old-style charm with modern conveniences. It's quite simply a great place to play and watch a game.

McKale Center

The home of Arizona's women's basketball, men's basketball, volleyball and gymnastics teams, the McKale Center opened in February 1973 and has a seating capacity of 14,545.

Athletics Facilities

Rita Hillenbrand Stadium

Fan support at Rita Hillenbrand Memorial Stadium underscores the attraction of UA softball and its home field and is one of the many Arizona athletic facilities supported by the Hillenbrand family.

Arizona National

Home of the men's and women's golf teams, Arizona National is a desert facility situated in the foothills of Tucson's Santa Catalina Mountains. Its diverse 6,776-yard, par-71 layout provides classic golf in the desert as well as some of the most spectacular scenery of any golf facility in the Southwest.

Murphey Soccer Stadium

The home of Arizona soccer since 1996, the John and Helen Murphey Soccer Stadium has been the site of many important events during the brief history of the UA program.

Jerry Kindall Field at Frank Sancet Stadium

Located on the corners of Enke and National Championship Drives, the Arizona baseball facility experienced many upgrades in the Fall of 2005, including the installation of a new playing surface, a new scoreboard (with videoboard) and grass berms along the left and right field lines. Other improvements slated for the near future include a new concourse and restrooms, sun shades and a new press box. The facility is named after Frank Sancet and Jerry Kindall, two of collegiate baseball's most highly regarded coaches. The former Wildcat skip-pers combined to win 1,691 games at UA, advance to 14 College World Series and win three national titles.

Drachman Stadium

Roy P. Drachman Track and Field Stadium, home of Arizona's Track and Field team since 1981, is considered one of the fastest and most functionally designed complexes in the country.

LaNelle Robson Tennis Center

One of the finest on-campus tennis facilities in the nation, the LaNelle Robson Tennis Center features 17 competition courts, a center-court grandstand, a concessions stand, a pro shop, supplemental restrooms and storage areas.

Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion

Years of planning came to fruition in late Spring 2002 with the completion of the Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion. A three-level modern structure, the expansion project gives Arizona athletics a showpiece for its heritage on the upper levels, and facilities for strength training, conditioning and treatment on the lower levels that are unmatched in a collegiate setting.

The legacy tiles cover the plaza terrace, an outdoor multi-purpose area on game days, and lead visitors to the doors of the Jim Click Hall of Champions, where Arizona's Sports Hall of Fame and rotating exhibits will showcase the heritage and tradition of Wildcat athletics in nearly 10,000 usable square feet of space. Above the Hall of Champions is the George Rountree Mezzanine, which features maple basketball flooring and is used for news conferences, receptions, convocations and other special events.

Included in the overall construction of the Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion were the Kasser Family Sports Medicine Center, which includes the Alex and Elisabeth Kasser Aqua Rehab Facility; the Bill Estes Jr. Family Strength and Conditioning Center; the Bob and Olga Strauss Computer Services Center; and the Albert and David Cohn Academic Service Center.

Legacy Lane leads from the curbside walks at the campus Mall to the Eddie Lynch Athletics Plaza a level above the strength center. The lane project allows former student-athletes, supporters and friends to own a bit of history with a custom-inscribed walkway tile, many in memoriam, and others noting cherished moments in UA sports history.

Where Champions Reign

The University of Arizona

Born on 40 acres of land donated by a saloon-keeper and two gamblers, and funded by a $25,000 consolation prize in Tucson's competition for the Territorial capital, the University of Arizona rose from the dusty floor of the true old West. Nobody wanted it, and fewer believed it would last. Fortunately, they were wrong, and the bet laid down by E.B. Gifford, Ben C. Parker and W.S. "Billy" Read on Nov. 27, 1886, has paid off into one of the finest research institutions in the world.

When the first 32 students hitched their horses to posts near the only building on campus in 1891, they began a tradition that has now entered its third century. The hitching posts may be gone, but "Old Main" remains as witness to the University's growth into a 400-acre Research I institution with nearly 200 buildings, more than 35,000 students, and a faculty and staff of 12,000.

Arizona's first university is the largest employer in Pima County and the fourth-largest in Arizona with a payroll of half a billion dollars. The UA offers 347 degree fields in 15 colleges and 12 specialized schools.

It's hard to believe that in the early days there were more students in the preparatory department finishing the equivalent of high school than there were University students. The number of University graduates never reached more than 10 per year until a decade of rapid expansion beginning in 1910, which saw the Territory become a state and the small outpost in the Sonoran Desert grow into a true educational institution.

Today, the University of Arizona is one of the top 20 research universities in the nation and has played a part in groundbreaking projects ranging from the exploration of Mars to the development of new cancer treatments and pioneering breakthroughs in heart transplantation. UA's observational, theoretical and space astronomy programs were ranked No. 1 in the country by the National Science Foundation (NSF) and recent U.S. News and World Report rankings placed 17 of the school's graduate programs among the top 20 in the nation. In addition, the Nobel Prize, three Pulitzer Prizes and the National Medal of Science have been bestowed upon Arizona educators.

Not to be forgotten, the University's undergraduate programs continue to flourish. The NSF considers Arizona to be one of the 10 universities that best integrates teaching and research for undergraduates. The NASA-funded space grant program pays undergraduates to work in laboratories alongside faculty, and the Undergraduate Biology Research Program includes 43 departments, involves 200 faculty sponsors and funds more than 100 undergraduate researchers each summer. The Eller College of Management and the McGuire Center for Entrepreneurship are rated in the global top 10 by Finance Times.

Where Champions Reign

UA's top-notch programs develop top-name graduates who have continued on to success in their respective fields. The UA boasts a laundry list of graduates who have significantly impacted society. From the late U.S. Congressman Morris K. Udall to Joan Ganz Cooney, founder of the Children's Television Workshop, to Emmy Award winning actor/comedian Garry Shandling, UA graduates have made their mark on the world. Other notable ex-Wildcats include Native American artist Fritz Scholder, the late astronaut Richard Scobee, television fitness personality Denise Austin, Arizona Supreme Court Justice Stanley G. Feldman, August Busch III, the CEO of Anheuser-Busch Inc., Phoenix Suns general manager Steve Kerr, former Boston Globe publisher Richard Gilman, and noted national sports broadcasters Dan Hicks, Tom Tolbert and Sean Elliott.

The UA also plays host to the world, with students representing all 50 states and 130 countries. Nearly a quarter of the student body consists of under-represented racial and ethnic groups, and the campus is located in one of the most diverse locations in the country, with the influence of Native American and Mexican cultures evident throughout the Tucson community.

The University of Arizona is in its third century of service with a continued commitment to providing support to its undergraduate population. Recently completed and current construction projects are testaments to the fact that the UA is dedicated to continued progress. The Integrated Learning Center, located underneath the grass Mall in the middle of campus, provides a home base for freshmen, with classrooms and offices for easier access to faculty and staff. The Student Union embraces the ambience of the Southwest with shaded terraces and open-air walkways, and provides numerous services such as the bookstore, technology center and varied restaurants that serve the UA community. A new SALT (Strategic Alternative Learning Techniques) Center enhances aid to students with learning disabilities. The Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion includes a strength training center, medical services center, and the Jim Click Hall of Champions — a museum to showcase Arizona Athletics Heritage and Tradition.

This commitment to excellence ensures that the University of Arizona will continue to grow from its auspicious beginnings as a single-building outpost in the desert into a world-renowned center for knowledge and research well into the next century.

C.A.T.S. (Commitment to an Athlete's Total Success)

C.A.T.S. Program

The University of Arizona Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to the academic, physical and personal development of each and every Wildcat student-athlete. To assist in that endeavor, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics (ICA) has developed a philosophical approach called C.A.T.S. (Commitment to an Athlete's Total Success). C.A.T.S. consists of four programs: Academic Support (while housed in ICA is an academic unit within student affairs), Personal Development, Strength and Conditioning, and Medical Services. These programs provide a comprehensive philosophical framework for ICA and staff to use in the task of assisting in the personal, physical and emotional growth and in the educational development of the student-athlete.

C.A.T.S. Academics

C.A.T.S. Academics Goals

C.A.T.S. Academics is committed to providing an academic support program that will develop the learning potential of all student-athletes as they pursue their education, develop their athletic skills and prepare for rewarding careers after graduation.

C.A.T.S. Academics is designed to enhance the educational experience of the student-athlete in the university setting. The primary goals are to:

1. Strive for excellence in the academic performance of every student-athlete who attends the UA to earn a degree.
2. Create an educational atmosphere where learning is fun and lifelong.
3. Commit to providing services necessary to support and lead its student-athletes.
4. To assist in the student-athlete's transition to the University and to develop independent learners.
5. Provide assistance for the student-athlete in the development of values, emphasizing the qualities of leadership.
6. Enhance the interpersonal relationships and communication skills of the student-athlete.
7. Encourage and facilitate the fulfillment of career and life goals of each student-athlete.
8. Safeguard the academic integrity of the UA by ensuring compliance with all rules of the University and NCAA.

Freshmen and First Year Students

The focus of the program is predicated on the belief that the key to retention of student-athletes in higher education is for an academic professional to engage the student on a personal level and assist the student in developing a personalized academic support plan. C.A.T.S. is committed to developing a strong first year experience.

The transition process from high school to college begins early and continues with intensive academic support throughout the first year. Students are assigned to C.A.T.S. Academics professionals upon arrival on campus who will assist them with course selection, tutorial support, study skill development, and assistance with navigating through the university.

A comprehensive Student - Athlete Orientation is conducted prior to the start of school upon arrival in August and members of the academics staff greets each student-athlete and family and addresses the specialized issues relating to the new student-athletes transition to the university.

Peak Performance UNVR 197 for Academic and Life Success

The purpose or goal of this three-credit course is to acquire knowledge, and to develop skills, abilities and attributes that will enhance student-athlete academic and personal success. All freshmen are required to enroll in the class, which is designed to assist the freshmen with the transition from high school to college and develop a foundation for success. The early focus of the class is centered around academic skill development, critical thinking and problem solving skills, goal setting and enhancing or developing consistent time management skills. Other topics may include a broad range of academic, personal and career concerns.

Academic Advising

The academic advisor designated by each College has primary advising responsibilities for student-athletes who are currently enrolled in that College's curriculum. The C.A.T.S.

C.A.T.S. (Commitment to an Athlete's Total Success)

Academics Office also offers supplemental advising / counseling to all student-athletes regarding course selection for degree requirements and NCAA requirements for continued eligibility. The academic advisory staff members are responsible for monitoring the student-athlete's progress towards a degree and preserving academic integrity in the advising process. Counseling student-athletes in course selection is one of the most important functions.

The student-athlete meets initially with an academic advisor or member of a college advising center staff to review an academic plan based on the student-athlete's academic background, career objectives and areas of interest and declared major. Once this meeting has concluded, the student-athlete may register for classes. The CATS Academics counselors work cooperatively with academic advisors throughout the university to ensure progress towards a degree as well as compliance with all NCAA eligibility requirements.

Directed Studies Program

The Directed Studies Program has a two-pronged approach to meet the academic needs of incoming freshmen and continuing student-athletes who have transitional issues. All first year student-athletes have required study hall hours. Students meet with Academic Learning Specialists, academic mentors, content-based tutors, or a combination of all three, to ensure a successful and seamless move into the university community.

Learning Specialists meet daily with those student-athletes who may require additional academic attention. The Learning Specialists provide a more focused approach to the rigors of academia while guiding the program's mentors and content-based tutors in providing additional academic assistance.

The academic mentors assist with time management, study skills and the transition to college. In addition to academic mentors, tutors are available, if needed, in specialized subjects. These outstanding graduate and undergraduate students are recruited from all academic departments and are selected on the basis of faculty recommendation and demonstrated knowledge of subject area. They are recruited, hired, and supervised by the C.A.T.S. Tutorial Coordinator. The services provided by the tutorial staff are an integral part of the total C.A.T.S. Academic Program and are an invaluable learning resource for busy student-athletes.

Facilities

C.A.T.S. Academics facilities are comprised of the four main areas designed for academic study:

1. The C.A.T.S. Advising Center
 - Houses five academic advisors
 - Work areas available for student-athletes to have individualized tutoring sessions
2. The C.A.T.S. Learning Center
 - Houses three full-time Learning Specialists, Tutorial Coordinator, and Math & Science Center
 - Wireless Internet Access available for student use
3. The C.A.T.S. Computer Lab
 - Forty-three (43) stand alone computers featuring Microsoft Office Professional word processing and several spreadsheet programs and full high speed internet access.
 - Student-athletes can access the Discover Career Exploration program from each computer.
 - The Computer facility is open and supervised 70 hours per week, and the lab is maintained by a full-time employee.
 - Three laser printers compliment the lab.
4. 120-Seat Auditorium
 - Seats 60 for quiet study
 - Seats 60 for tutorial appointments

Athletics Administration

Jim Livengood
Athletics Director

The leadership and experience provided by Jim Livengood give the University of Arizona a strong national ambassador and outstanding continuity at the helm of its program.

Livengood became UA's eighth athletics director in January 1994. Behind his strong leadership, remarkable developments have occurred throughout the program in the past 14 years, both from competitive and administrative standpoint. He oversees the 19 men's and women's teams that make up one of the nation's most well-rounded athletics programs, one that has garnered 10 team NCAA Championships under his direction.

During Livengood's tenure, UA has maintained its top-25 competitive record with overall national rankings by the NACDA Directors' Cup (formerly Sears Cup) of sixth in 1993-94; fourth in 1994-95; seventh in 1995-96; sixth in 1997-98; ninth in 1998-99; eighth in 1999-2000; fifth in 2000-01; ninth in 2001-02; 16th in 2002-03; 12th in 2003-04; 18th in 2004-05; 11th in 2005-06; 24th in 2006-07 and 27th in 2007-08. This record reflects success throughout Arizona's broad-based program, highlighted by participation in the 1994 and 2001 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Final Four, and becoming 1997 NCAA Men's Basketball National Champions. Arizona also won the 1994, 1996, 1997, 2001 and 2006 NCAA Division I National Softball Championships along with the 1996 and 2000 NCAA women's golf titles as well as the 2008 men's and women's NCAA Swimming Championships. The twin swimming titles, another WCWS appearance and strong showings in baseball and track last season also helped underscore UA's competitive status.

Livengood's focus on the welfare of student-athletes and the primary objective of a college education, most exemplifies his tenure. The UA pays more attention to this aspect of intercollegiate athletics than any other, with most major decisions related to the ongoing improvement of the atmosphere for success. In addition to focusing the University of Arizona Athletics Department's emphasis on the student-athlete, he has maintained a positive fund balance each year, and fostered a cooperative relationship with the university administration that sees the athletics department donating $500,000 annually to the general university fund.

His national reputation is well deserved, and he keeps Arizona well positioned to compete at the top level as a standard bearer for intercollegiate athletics in the tradition-rich and highly-competitive Pac-10. His program turns a profit, and he has recorded a positive fund balance in each of his 14 years in Tucson. As one who serves under the president of a public institution of high education, that success alone puts Livengood in some select company.

Livengood and his wife, Linda, have two grown children. Michelle, a lawyer in Tucson, and Jeremy, who lives in Washington, D.C., are both UA graduates. Michelle earned her law degree in May 2000 while Jeremy completed his studies in December 1999.

Kathleen LaRose
Senior Associate
Athletics Director

Kathleen "Rocky" LaRose has been at the forefront of University of Arizona athletic leadership for the past three decades.

She enters her 30th year at the University of Arizona, her 15th year as Senior Associate Director of Athletics and her 20th year as Senior Woman Administrator. Currently, she oversees the internal operations of all 19 sports at the UA, being the first woman in her capacity to have day-to-day internal operational responsibilities over Division I-A football and men's basketball programs.

As the Senior Associate Athletics Director, LaRose also oversees compliance, heritage, events management and all of the C.A.T.S. student-athlete services – academics, medical services, life skills development and equipment operations. She also chairs the department's Equity and Title IX committees, and she directs the NCAA certification process.

LaRose joined the Arizona staff in 1979 as the UA softball coach and worked from 1980 until 1989 in various capacities including coordinator of athletic special events and special projects, and as assistant athletics director for fund development. LaRose is a past Vice President of the Pac-10 Conference and is a current member of the Pac-10 Council, which governs and regulates all Pac-10 policies. On the national level, she was a charter member of the NCAA Management Council (the legislative body of the NCAA) as the Pac-10 representative for four years and was appointed Management Council liaison to the NCAA Student-Athlete Advisory Board. She also has chaired various Pac-10 committees.

In 1990, LaRose developed the Commitment for Athletes' Total Success (C.A.T.S.), an educational approach used by student-athlete services to better the student-athlete academically, athletically, and personally.

LaRose was the recipient of the university's 2004 Billy Joe Varney Award, the institution's top career service honor for members of the faculty or staff.

Raised in Phoenix, LaRose received both her Bachelor of Science and master's degrees from the University of Arizona. While in attendance, she competed on the UA softball team as a starting infielder and clean-up hitter, leading the Cats to their first-ever conference championship in 1979. She competed in the 1979 World Cup Softball championship as a member of the USA National Championship team. She also was a member of the Arete Society (UA's Athletics Honorary) and was the 1978 UA Homecoming Queen. She is married to Michael Proctor, the University's assistant vice president for corporate relations. Her nickname comes from her athletic playing days and her maiden name of Rockenfield.
