Season Preview

Of the many definitions of the word "experience" includes an entry that reads "knowledge or practical wisdom gained from what one has observed, encountered or undergone."

Experience may be one of the most important factors when the 2009-10 Arizona women's golf team looks back over its season. While the team welcomes three newcomers to the fold for the campaign, the Wildcats bring back a combined 12 seasons of intercollegiate experience to help provide the base for a season full of excitement and expectation.

"I'm very excited for this season," said head coach Shelly Haywood, who begins her fourth season in charge of the Arizona program after two years as an assistant coach. "Last year was a learning experience for our freshmen. This is the deepest we have ever been by far and this is my sixth season. We've literally got everybody fighting for those five spots."

Haywood doesn't mix words when she talks about her team. After going through the fires last season with a youthful, inexperienced group, she sees her team as a legitimate contender for both team and individual championships. She expects her team to have learned from its trials a year ago and turn those lessons into positive results.

"I didn't think we had a clear leader on the team last season, which I think is different this year. I told all of the girls that I don't care if we have one team captain or five team captains. It doesn't matter to me, but you all have to be accountable to each other. As long as we're all on the same page and have the same common goals and everyone buys into the system, I think everything will work out well."

"I think our girls are as talented as anyone that we play against during the season. It's just overall those teams are a little more consistent. I would put our girls up against anyone right now, head-to-head, and I would like our chances."

SENIORS

After three seniors departed the Arizona program last season, there are two fourth-year players who will carry the torch in their final collegiate seasons. Brittany Benvenuto appeared in eight events for the Wildcats last season, recording a scoring average of 76.48 with a low round of 69 on two occasions.

"Brittany had a really great year last year and was probably our most improved player. I know she was probably a little disappointed at the end of the year, but she is a really hard worker and has been very consistent early on. You can see that she's a senior and the other girls look to her for leadership. I really think she can handle the pressure that comes with being a senior."

The other Arizona player in her final collegiate campaign is Emily Mason, who logged 11 total rounds over four events during her junior season. She is a steady player for the Wildcats who adds to the overall depth of the team and continues to improve all facets of her play.

"Emily worked hard all summer and I expect her to continue improving her short game and her putting. As she continues to improve, I expect her to be a weekly challenger to crack the top five."

JUNIORS

One of the most experienced and talented players on the Arizona roster is the only junior: Alejandra Llaneza. The team leader a season ago with a season scoring average of 74.15, Llaneza will be called upon to provide leadership for the younger players on the team and continue her steady play to give the Wildcats a solid foundation each time they tee off.

"Alejandra is a very consistent player. In two solid years, she has played in almost every tournament and has never not qualified to be in the top five. I expect her to provide this team with a great deal of leadership and continue her progression as a player."

SOPHOMORES

The deepest class on the Arizona roster is the sophomores, a group of players who were thrust into action from the opening round last season. This group of players that includes Margarita Ramos, Isabelle Boineau, Nikki Koller and Ashley Malaska, represents both the present and the future of the Arizona program. Already possessing a great deal of experience, this talented quartet is pushing Arizona back to the pinnacle of collegiate women's golf.

Ramos returns to Arizona after an excellent summer of play overseas that included a top 25 finish at the Ladies' British Open Amateur Stroke Play Championship in Scotland. An academic all-American in her first season, she is another steady player who turned in a pair of top 20 finishes last season and finished third on the team with a 75.47 scoring average.

"Margarita had a great summer in Europe and continues to improve each time out. As she continues to become more consistent on the golf course, I expect bigger and bigger things from her."

Boineau is one of three Europeans on the Arizona roster, hailing from France. She joined Ramos at the Ladies British Open Amateur Stroke Play Championship and earned 22nd place, giving her the confidence to be a consistent threat for the Wildcats in her second collegiate season.

"Isabelle came back from the summer with a different attitude and has been showing a tremendous work ethic. She is a very talented player and should challenge to be the best player on our team."

Koller has battled through a hand injury early on in practice time, but is expected to be at 100 percent when the season starts. She was named to the NGCA All-Scholar team after posting a scoring average of 76.14 last season while also maintaining a grade point average over 3.50 for the year. She finished her freshman season strong and is looking to carry that momentum into this season.

"Nikki is an excellent ball striker and is really a fighter on the course. She also possesses a solid work ethic both on and off the golf course that translates into her game."

Malaska is another Arizona player who used the summer months to make improvements to her overall game and has impressed the coaches in the early stages of practice. She appeared in three events for the Cats last season and will be looking to be a regular in the Arizona lineup this season.

"Ashley improved a great deal over the summer and is very hungry and determined to break into the top five. Once she gets in, she's the kind of player who won't give up her spot without a fight."

FRESHMEN

Haywood inked three players in the offseason who should continue to provide more depth of talent to the Arizona roster. Sherlyn Popelka, Kyndall Ardoin and Marie Tschida are all highly-touted prep standouts who have experienced a great deal of success at the junior level and should provide an immediate impact within the team.

Popelka attended Lake Mary High School in Florida, but spent her time training at the Annika Academy, the first player out of the prestigious training institution to sign with the Wildcats. She won a pair of matches for the European team at the 2009 PING Junior Solheim Cup and was a member of the Swiss Junior National Team. She has played in junior events all over Europe and also earned a pair of runner-up finishes at AJGA events in 2008.

"Sherlyn is a very consistent player for a freshman. She is a big hitter for having a very slight build. She is also an excellent putter and possesses great technique as well as a very fluid golf swing. I expect her results over the summer to translate into success in our program right away."

Ardoin is a native of Louisiana who was an excellent all-around prep athlete while she achieved great success on the golf course. A ROLEX Junior All-American in 2007, Ardoin is a two-time Louisiana State Amateur Champion and also helped her home state to a 6th place finish at the USGA Women's State Team Championship.

"Kyndall has a great resume and is a very good player. She reminds me a great deal of former Wildcat Alison Walshe. She has almost the same swing and brings a lot of athleticism to the golf course."

Completing the roster is Tschida, a walk-on who is the third Arizona player to call Europe her home. She is a member of the German Junior National Team and is a three-time German Junior National Champion. She recently competed for Germany at the Under-18 European Team Championship and the European Young Masters Event while making the cut in three other European events.

"Marie is making steady improvements all the time and works very hard at her game. She has an outstanding short game and can get up and down from almost anywhere on the golf course. As she improves her length off the tee, she will be a factor for this team."

Haywood adopts a philosophy that she wants her team to go up against the best competition week in and week out. She sees that challenge as one that will force her players to face difficult challenges and learn from those experiences.

"There is no padding the schedule with us. We have to play in the best tournaments. Otherwise, we don't get invited back and I want our girls to play against the best competition because that's the only way to get better. They are not overwhelmed or think other teams are that much better than us because they are not. It's just overall consistency one through five has not been there but it will be this season."

While Haywood doesn't make a point to emphasize the proud history of the Arizona program, she does look for specific moments to use that legacy as motivation for her players.

"If you look back at the success of Arizona, the years that they won national championships and were ranked number one, they were deep. They all fed off of each other and they all hated to get beat by each other. In the end, that's what breeds competition and makes you get better."

With experience comes consistency, a phrase that has echoed throughout team talks during the early part of the season. Haywood knows that her team has the talent to compete with the elite teams, but must also be able to produce those results for an entire tournament and not just for one or two rounds at a time.

"They need to believe in themselves and they have to want it more than anyone else. If someone else wants it more than them, those people are probably going to get it."

The pieces are in place for Arizona to make another long drive toward the top of the NCAA leaderboards. The additional experiences and infusion of talent make Arizona a team to watch in 2009-10.

Head Coach

Shelly Haywood

Third Season

Shelly Haywood was named head women's golf coach at the University of Arizona on July 10, 2007, after three successful seasons as the Wildcats' assistant coach.

Haywood, now in her third season as head coach at Arizona, was a two-time all-Big West Conference selection at New Mexico State University. Haywood is a proven force in the game on a local and national level as a member of the Ladies Professional Golfers' Association (LPGA), the USGA Women's Amateur Public Links Committee, and an honorary member of the Arizona Golf Association's Board of Governors. She is actively involved in supporting and donating to the Tucson junior golf community through clinics and speaking engagements. She was a multi-sport athlete in high school, lettering in volleyball, basketball and softball.

In October 2005, Haywood was given the LPGA's highest coaching honor, the National Coach of the Year, and was the recipient of the LPGA's Western Section Coach of the Year in 2005. She was also nominated for NGCA's Assistant Coach of the Year in her first two seasons at Arizona.

An accomplished player and teacher, Haywood was a member of the West Coast Ladies Tour from 2002-04. In 2004, she also earned two top-10 finishes in the Colorado Women's Open and the Nevada Women's Open. Since moving to Tucson in 1993, she has worked alongside her husband, award winning PGA Professional Michael Haywood, Director of Golf, at Tucson Country Club.

Since arriving at Arizona, Haywood has fostered the growth of the Arizona women's golf program with her passionate coaching style and enthusiastic vision for success. Haywood has coached some of the finest Wildcats, including first team All-American and 2008 Curtis Cup team member Alison Walshe, All-Americans Adriana Zwanck, Cassandra Kirkland, Lani Elston and Mary Jacobs. Additionally, eight all-Pac 10 selections and the program's only four-time NGCA All-Academic athlete, Whitney Welch, have played for Haywood. Since arriving at Arizona,

Haywood has coached players to eight individual titles that include some of the nation's most prestigious championships.

A motivated, driven and enthusiastic coach, Haywood has assembled two of the nation's finest recruiting classes. Her first class included two-time Kentucky state champion Nikki Koller, No. 1-ranked Mexican junior amateur Margarita Ramos, Mesa Red Mountain High School's Ashley Malaska, daughter of PGA Professional Mike Malaska, and No. 1 French junior amateur Isabelle Boineau. Boineau also represented her home country in the most recent World Amateur Team Championship. This past season, she brought in Swiss junior national team member Sherlyn Popelka, the first Arizona player to train under LPGA Hall of Famer Annika Sorenstam at the Annika Academy in Florida.

Haywood enjoys cycling, working out, traveling with her husband and spending time with their two cats. She would eventually like to compete in a triathlon.

Haywood is a graduate of New Mexico State University, earning a degree in Professional Golf Management with a minor in Exercise Physiology.

Assistant Coach

Laura Ianello

Third year at Arizona

Laura (Myerscough) Ianello joined the Wildcat coaching staff as a full-time assistant coach on Jan. 3, 2008.

Ianello, who played for the Wildcats from 1998-2003, spent the previous five seasons playing professionally on the LPGA Tour, Futures Tour and the West Coast Ladies Golf Tour. Her best season was 2004 in which she finished 147th on the LPGA Tour money list. Ianello ranked eighth on the 2003 Futures Tour with a 72.1 stroke average with three top-10 finishes.

"I can't think of a better place to start my coaching career than at the University of Arizona," said Ianello. "I am excited about the opportunity to work with Shelly and a very talented group of student-athletes."

Ianello, 28, was a part of one national championship (2000) and three Pac-10 Championship (2000, 2001, 2002) teams during her five seasons as a Wildcat. In 33 career collegiate appearances, Myerscough posted a 75.92 stroke average to go with eight top-10 and four top-20 finishes.

She was a National Golf Coaches Association honorable mention All-American and a second-team all-Pac-10 selection in 2002. Ianello earned honorable mention all-Pac-10 accolades in 2001 and 2003 as well. She was the UA team captain as a senior in 2002-03.

Originally from Charleston, Ill., Ianello was the runner-up at the 2000 United States Women's Amateur Championship. She also played in the 2001, 2002 and 2004 U.S. Women's Opens, the 2002 Curtis Cup and represented the United States at the 2000 and 2002 World Amateur Championship. For three seasons (2000-03), Ianello was ranked in the top 10 in Golfweek magazine's amateur rankings.

"Laura is a great addition to our staff," said Haywood. "She's had an outstanding playing career as both an amateur and a professional and I believe she will be an excellent coach."

Ianello, who was married to Jeff Ianello in the summer of 2009, earned her degree in physical education from Arizona in December 2007.

Individual Champions

Individual NCAA Champions and Players of the Year

Lorena Ochoa

Guadalajara, Mexico

2001 and 2002 Player of the Year, First-team All-American

Lorena Ochoa accomplished more in a two-year collegiate career than most golfers can hope to achieve in a lifetime. The 5-foot-7-inch star from Guadalajara, Mexico, finished in first or second places in 18 of the 20 collegiate events in which she competed. She closed her college campaign as the most successful golfer in Arizona history, winning 12 individual titles to set a new school record for career victories.

Perhaps most impressive of Ochoa's accomplishments is her NCAA-record winning streak of seven straight wins accomplished in her sophomore season. Her streak ranks second among all recognized streaks in the history of modern golf. Only Byron Nelson boasts a winning streak longer than Ochoa's as he won 11 consecutive tournaments in 1945.

In her freshman season, Ochoa set an NCAA record for scoring average as she totaled a mark of 71.33. But the native of Guadalajara, Mexico, returned her in her second year to shatter her own record as she posted a sophomore-scoring average of 70.13, nearly two strokes below par.

Her consistently-dominating performances over the course of her two-year Arizona career led to her being named the nation's Player of the Year in both of her seasons of collegiate golf. Her name is etched sundry times in the national and Arizona record books as the golfer against whom all future collegiate greats will be measured.

Marisa Baena

Pereira, Colombia

Two-Time Player of the Year, 1996 Pac-10,
NCAA West Regional and NCAA Champion

On May 25, 1996, Marisa Baena completed one of the most impressive sweeps in Arizona golf history. Having already captured the Pac-10 and NCAA West Regional individual titles, Baena put the finishing touches to a rare postseason hat trick by finishing the NCAA Championships with a score of 296, seven strokes ahead of second place finisher Kellee Booth of ASU. What made the accomplishment even more remarkable was that Baena was only nine months into her career as a Wildcat.

Baena accomplished more in her freshman season than most can achieve in a four-year career. With her individual championship she joined the ranks of the Cats' two other NCAA individual champions, Susan Slaughter (1990) and Annika Sorenstam (1991). With that complete, she proceeded to lead the Arizona women to their first-ever national championship by hitting a crucial shot on the first hole of the playoff to cap one of the most dramatic finishes in championship history. She holed an eight-iron shot from 147 yards out to record an eagle two on the hole and put her name in collegiate golfing history.

Baena was named the Eleanor Dudley National Player of the Year in 1996 and 1997 and she came within two shots of earning a second consecutive individual NCAA title in 1997. Her postseason accomplishments during her freshman season were preceded by five first-place finishes and a third and fourth-place performance in her last seven tournaments.

She completed her three-year career at Arizona as one of the most successful golfers in the school's history. A three-time All-American and All-Pac-10 selection, Baena led the team to numerous No. 1 rankings, two Pac-10 championships and two NCAA West Regional championships. She captured nine individual crowns in her career and placed in the top-10 23 out of 28 tournaments.

Jenna Daniels

Bonita, California

2000 NCAA Champion and Player of the Year,
First-team All-American

Jenna Daniels closed her Arizona career at the pinnacle of the college golf world. Daniels capped a season that saw her win three tournaments and earn eight top-five finishes, including a three-stroke victory over teammate Julia Kraschinski at the NCAA Championships. Her performance at the NCAA Championships was instrumental to the Wildcats' success, as it had been all season long. Behind Daniels' efforts, the Wildcats cruised to the program's second national championship with a 21-stroke victory, the third largest margin in the 19-year history of the tournament.

Daniels anchored a Wildcat squad that won nine tournaments, including its final eight of the season, with a 71.70 stroke average. She held down the nation's top spot in the rankings for a majority of the year. Daniels dominated throughout a season that never saw her finish a tournament below 15th place.

By capturing the NCAA Championship, she completed a postseason triple crown. Daniels won the NCAA West Regional in her junior year and the Pac-10 Conference Championship in her freshman year.

Her postseason accolades matched her regular season performances. Daniels won the Honda Award for women's golf, honoring the nation's top collegiate women's golfer and was named first team All-American.

Individual NCAA Champions and Players of the Year

Erica Blasberg

Corona, California

2003 Golfweek Player of the Year,
First-team All-American in 2003 and 2004

Erica Blasberg's freshman season was one of the most decorated in Arizona women's golf history. The Corona, Calif., native captured two tournament titles and placed in the top-5 in seven tournaments. In addition to her regular season success, Blasberg came in third at both the Pac-10 Championships and NCAA Championships. In 30 rounds of golf Blasberg shot even to or under par 16 times. Blasberg's success was shown by the accolades she received. She was named Pac-10 Golfer and Freshman of the Year, All-American by the NGCA, Golfstat Cup (given to the nation's lowest stroke average) and Golfweek and Golfworld Player of the Year.

Susan Slaughter

Floyd, Virginia

1990 NCAA Champion and First-team All-American

Susan Slaughter saved her best for last in winning the 1990 individual NCAA Championship at the Arthur Hills Course on Hilton Head Island, S.C. After finishing second at the 1989 championships as a freshman, Slaughter found herself in the heat of the race the next season as well. This time she faced the pressure of a sudden-death playoff and came out on top by sinking a two-foot birdie putt to capture the title after going into the final round a stroke out of first place.

Her performance earned her first team All-America honors and gave her the distinction of being Arizona's first NCAA golf champion. Her second-place finish the year before had been the highest finish by an Arizona woman and it tied the best finish posted by the men. The come-from-behind victory capped a season in which Slaughter struggled but proved that she could come up big when it was important. Her highest finish of the year until then had been a couple of fifth-place ties. But she did not forget the advice given to her by Michael Jordan after the 1989 NCAA awards ceremony. "He told me to improve one spot and I would win this year," said Slaughter.

Annika Sorenstam

Stockholm, Sweden

1991 Player of the Year and
NCAA Champion; Two-time All-American;
1992 Pac-10 Champion

There is nothing unassuming about the trail of accomplishments that Annika Sorenstam left in her wake at Arizona. The quiet Swede made plenty of noise in her two seasons as a Wildcat by winning the national championship as a freshman in 1991 and following that with a Pac-10 championship in 1992 before turning pro after her sophomore season. In addition to earning first-team All-American and All-Pac-10 honors, she was named the 1991 Player of the Year.

Sorenstam finished her career as a Wildcat with seven individual tournament titles and she finished out of the top ten only once - an 11th-place finish as a freshman. In addition to taking care of business on the course, she earned Pac-10 All-Academic First Team honors for carrying a 3.0 grade point average in the classroom.

National Champions

1996 NCAA Champions

On its way to capturing the program's first national championship, the 1996 women's golf team found out there is a fine line between life and death. It took the shot of a lifetime by star freshman Marisa Baena during a sudden-death playoff to lift the Cats to a one-stroke victory over San Jose State in what has been called one of the most exciting finishes in NCAA history.

Baena had already claimed the individual championship with a score of 296 - a comfortable seven-stroke advantage over the nearest competitor - when she holed a 147-yard eight-iron shot for eagle on the par-four 18th which proved to be the difference in the playoff. The Cats scored a 15 on the hole and the Spartans carded a 16.

"It was the greatest shot I've ever seen under that kind of pressure," said head coach Rick LaRose, who also led the UA men's team to its first national title in 1992. "There have been a lot of great golf shots, but under these circumstances, with a team victory on the line, nothing's bigger."

Baena redeemed herself after missing a birdie putt on the 18th hole of regulation that would have given Arizona the title outright. Instead, she saved the winning shot for a more dramatic occasion. "I hit a couple of really good shots in this tournament, but I thought it was just going to get close like a couple of shots I had before," said the freshman from Colombia. "I think it is the greatest shot I have ever made in my life."

Even after Baena's shot, the Cats still needed clutch par putts from Krissie Register and Heather Graff to give them the edge. Graff was Arizona's next-highest finisher after firing a four-round total of 306 to put her in a tie for sixth overall, and Register shot a 310 to finish in a three-way tie at 13th. Christina Tolerton tied for 67th at 328 and Jeanne Anne Krizman, who recorded a bogey five on the playoff hole, rounded out the Arizona contingent at 79th with a 333.

Arizona went into the final round with a four-stroke lead but fired a 304 to finish the tournament at 1240, the highest score ever for an NCAA Champion, while the Spartans finished with a tournament team-low 300 in the final round to pull even with the Cats. Texas finished third with a score of 1241, UCLA was fourth with 1243, and Stanford, the favorite going in finished fifth at 1248. Each of the top-five teams had higher scores than the previous NCAA Championship high score of 1218 set by Florida in 1985. That was due in large part to the hot, gusty conditions that dominated the four days of the tournament.

The title was the first in the program's history and the second for LaRose who led the men's team to the 1992 championship. The Cats came on strong right when they needed it in the postseason. They completed a sweep that included the Pac-10 and NCAA West Regional Championships. Baena also finished an impressive triple crown of her own, winning the individual titles in all three events.

"I guess it's a Wildcat characteristic to play hard down the stretch," LaRose said.

2000 NCAA Champions

The 2000 NCAA women's golf season proved to be an exercise in futility for everyone but the Arizona Wildcats. By capturing the 2000 national championship, the Wildcats completed one of the most dominating performances in the history of collegiate golf.

Arizona's four-round total of 23-over 1,175 at the NCAA Championships gave them a 21-stroke victory, the third largest in the tournament's 19-year history. The NCAA Championships marked the eighth consecutive tournament title for the squad, a string that began on Nov. 7 at the Golf World Invitational. During that stretch, the Wildcats won eight titles by a combined 64 strokes. Individually, a Wildcat earned medalist honors four times- the Golf World Invitational, the Rainbow Wahine Invitational, the Ping/ASU Invitational, and the NCAA Championships.

Jenna Daniels took the NCAA individual title with rounds of 73, 69, 68, and 77 to finish at one-under-par for the tournament. Teammate Julia Kraschinski fired a four-round total of 290 to claim second place at two-over par. Also finishing in the top 10 was sophomore Cristina Baena, who closed action at just nine-over par (297).

The tournament was the last for seniors Jenna Daniels and Jill Gomric and also proved to be the final for head coach Todd McCorkle.

"There are a lot of mixed emotions right now," Daniels said. "I'll never be able to play as a Wildcat again, but what a way to finish. What a way to go out."

Daniels provided leadership and tremendous performances for Arizona all year long. With a stroke average of 71.70 and an average finish of fourth, Daniels truly deserved her selection as an All-American.

Also boosting the Wildcats' was the emergence of freshman Julia Kraschinski. The freshman standout came on strong at the end of the year, closing her freshman campaign with five consecutive top-15 finishes. Kraschinski culminated the season with her second-place showing at the NCAA Championships.

In earning the program's second national championship in five years, the Arizona Wildcats solidified their standing as a college golf powerhouse.

Arizona National

Arizona National is a desert facility designed by Robert Trent Jones Jr. The course is situated in the foothills of Tucson's Santa Catalina Mountains, and its diverse 6,776-yard, par 71 layout provides classic golf in the desert challenges as well as some of the most spectacular scenery of any golf facility in the Southwest. The endless beauty of a panoramic mountain vista scene, forest of giant saguaros, nine natural springs, spectacular city views, and magnificent desert vegetation makes Arizona National an unparalleled golf experience.

At Arizona National the beauty doesn't stop on the golf course. The state-of-the-art facility is equipped with all of the necessary amenities needed to perfect the Arizona golfer's experience. A learning and performance center, and a restaurant with indoor and lake-view patio dining add to the experience of Wildcat golf.

An exceptional practice facility is also one of the features included. It is located on the south end of the driving range and is strictly for the men and women's teams. It includes a range, practice putting greens and a chipping green. The team also has access to the teaching center that is equipped with the latest video equipment.

According to Golf World magazines, Arizona National "is what desert golf should be." Similarly,

Golf Magazine's Brian McCallen said of the facility, "it may be one of the best desert courses ever built."

On June 12, 2002 I.R.I Golf Group CEO Jeff Silverstein announced the purchase of The Raven Golf Course at Sabino Springs and an enhanced partnership with Arizona athletes. As part of the deal, the facility was renamed Arizona National Golf Club at Sabino Springs.

As part of the new Arizona National facility, I.R.I Golf Group has committed to a multi-million dollar capital improvement project, including a clubhouse renovation, practice facility and a Wildcat Wall of Fame.

The course is host to the several tournaments through the collegiate season including the men's PING/Arizona Intercollegiate and past women's Wildcat Invitational home events.

Athletics Facilities

The Arizona Athletics Department is on the southeast side of the University and is located in the recently renovated McKale Center. Student-athletes from each of the Arizona Athletics' 19 sports programs train in McKale Center, the home of the Wildcats. Arizona's men's basketball, women's basketball, volleyball and gymnastics teams compete in McKale's arena, while the remainder of the Wildcat teams compete in nearby venues.

Jim Click Hall of Champions

The Jim Click Hall of Champions, housed in the Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion, is Arizona's heritage center. Here, Arizona's Sports Hall of Fame and rotating exhibits showcase the heritage and tradition of Wildcat athletics in nearly 10,000 square feet of display space.

Strength Training and Medical Services

Arizona's Strength Training program provides Arizona women's golf players with a regimented program that builds strength, endurance, speed, overall fitness and power. This, in combination with a 19,000 square foot state-of-the-art weight room, provides Arizona women's golfers with an optimal opportunity to maximize their athletic potential.

The Kasser Family Sports Medicine Center

The sports medicine center consists of 5,300 usable square feet in space. It includes the Alex and Elisabeth Kasser Aqua Rehab Facility which features an underwater treadmill and other hydro-therapy equipment. The facility has stations for taping and treatment, examination rooms and offices for UA physicians, staff offices, a reception area and an X-ray examination room. The athletic medicine staff is committed to working with strength and conditioning coaches, team coaches and student-athletes in implementing ways to prevent injuries. Although the risk of injury cannot be completely eliminated, proper strength and conditioning, adequate hydrations, taping and bracing, and education are all methods employed by the staff to minimize the risk of injury or illness. If a student-athlete is injured during an athletic event, the athletic trainer will assess the injury and proceed to treat the injury or recommend further consultation from a team physician. The athletic training staff and physical therapist are trained in up-to-date methods of rehabilitating athletic injuries.

C.A.T.S. Academics

C.A.T.S. Academics and Life Skills Programs

The University of Arizona Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to the academic, physical and personal development of each and every Wildcat student-athlete. To assist in that endeavor, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics (ICA) has developed a philosophical approach called C.A.T.S. (Commitment to an Athlete's Total Success). C.A.T.S. consists of four programs: Academics, Life Skills, Strength and Conditioning and Medical Services. These programs provide a philosophical framework for ICA and staff to use in the task of assisting in the personal, physical and emotional growth and in the educational development of the student-athlete.

At Arizona, academic excellence is a priority. The academic program at Arizona provides student-athletes with the tools and skills necessary to achieve academic success through the utilization of diverse academic programming, including academic counseling, tutoring, course selection and strategic study planning.

In C.A.T.S. Life Skills, the main focus is on personal development, leadership, career development and community service. More than 50 members of the faculty and various campus departments are actively involved in a network supporting C.A.T.S. C.A.T.S. Life Skills includes: enrichment and orientation programs, substance abuse education, confidential and professional counseling to meet student-athletes' issues regarding personal health and mental/emotional well-being, "at-risk" programming, minority outreach, peak performance counseling, peer advising, career development programs, internship opportunities, support from campus faculty, a Student-Athlete Advisory Board (SAAB) that represents the voice of the student-athlete, and a Community Outreach Program which includes the Smith Project Speakers' Bureau which focuses on teaching children how to make healthy life choices and the importance of education.

Computer Lab

Arizona's state-of-the art computer lab provides student-athletes with the resources to complete class work in a timely and efficient manner. Its convenient location in McKale Center is easily accessible for student-athletes. The academic center and the computer lab are also right next door to the weight room, team meeting rooms and locker rooms.

Tucson, Arizona

Expect The Unexpected

Located in the heart of southern Arizona, Tucson is a city of stunning contrast and diversity. From the broad desert valley of world-famous saguaro cacti to 9,000-foot mountain forests of pine trees and snow, the city stands at a crossroads geographically and culturally.

Tucson is a thriving metropolis that continues to grow by thousands of residents each month, but has held fast to its small-town ambience. Locals gather at historic Fourth Avenue for nighttime entertainment and shopping and the University constantly holds the center of the city's attention with its athletics and cultural activities. Outdoor activities are also the norm with hundreds of miles of hiking and biking trails, highlighted by Sabino Canyon, which showcases the beauty of the desert with river-guided trails leading into mountains.

For those in search of a big-city atmosphere, Phoenix is a two-hour drive to the north and is home to NCA, NFL, NHL and Major League Baseball franchises. Further north lie in-state geographical attractions like the Grand Canyon and Lakes Powell and Mead, and Las Vegas is only a seven-hour road trip away. There may not be much water in the desert, but when the summer temperature rises, Tucson is just a half-day's drive from the beaches of the Pacific Ocean and the Gulf of California.

Tucson, Arizona

Tucson Temperature

Tucson is renowned for its superb year-round weather. Warm and sunny throughout most of the year, the air is remarkably dry with a low relative humidity. It lies in the zone receiving more sunshine than any other section in the United States. The average high temperature is 81 degrees and the average low temperature is 54 degrees. With an average of 12 inches of rainfall and 86 percent sunshine, Tucson receives more than 50 percent of its rain during the months of July, August and September.

The Sonoran desert provides a unique setting not to be found anywhere else in the world. Far from the Saharan sand dunes that most first-time visitors expect, the desert boasts a wide range of wildlife, vegetation and great mountain views.

When the temperatures rise in the desert, it's just a 40-minute drive to the top of Mt. Lemmon, the southernmost ski resort in the United States.

Athletic Excellence

The University of Arizona's Athletic excellence is rooted in a strong foundation of Wildcat heritage and history that dates back to the early 1900s. The Arizona Athletics program has produced countless All-Americans, all-conference honorees and NCAA team and individual titles throughout that span, ranking second to none in athletic excellence.

The Wildcats boast two of the most successful programs in NCAA history – men's basketball and softball. Under the guidance of Hall of Fame Head Coach Lute Olson, the men's basketball program reached unprecedented heights with its 1997 NCAA Championship, four Final Four appearances and 11 Pac-10 Championships. The Wildcats also hold the longest active streak in the nation with 25 consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament. To his credit, Olson added seven Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors in 24 seasons to his list of accomplishments at Arizona before retiring in 2008.

Under the guidance of Head Coach Mike Candrea, UA's softball program has achieved national prominence, as the Wildcats have won eight NCAA titles and 10 Pac-10 titles. Candrea has led Arizona to 21 College World Series berths, and he has helped produce five National Players of the Year. In 2006, the Wildcats won the national championship, their first since the 2001 season. The Wildcats followed that up with a repeat performance in 2007, capturing back-to-back NCAA crowns for the third time in program history. Candrea has also earned Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors 10 times since the league began in softball play 23 years ago.

The baseball team won three NCAA titles in a span of 10 years – 1976, 1980 and 1986 – and returned to the World Series in 2004 for the first time in 18 years. The team has claimed three Pac-10 Conference titles since joining the league in 1979. The men's and women's golf teams have combined to tally three NCAA titles, 10 NCAA Regional titles and nine Pac-10 titles. Head coach Rick LaRose was a five-time Pac-10 Coach of the Year honoree (four men/one women). Former head coach Joan Bonvicini led the women's basketball team to seven NCAA Tournament appearances over a nine year stretch, dating back to the program's first-ever NCAA berth in 1997. The volleyball program made its 22nd NCAA Tournament appearance in 2009, the 13th time overall in 18 seasons under Head Coach Dave Rubio.

UA's Olympic sports also provide the Wildcat program with consistent participation in the postseason, and they have garnered numerous individual NCAA champions, all-conference honorees and All-America selections. Women's gymnastics has made 21 consecutive postseason appearances, while the swimming and diving program has produced 54 individual NCAA champions and 41 Olympians.

In 2008, swimming and diving Head Coach Frank Busch was named national coach of the year, as well as Pac-10 Coach of the Year. Track and field has produced several individual NCAA champions and Olympians as well. The soccer program has experienced unprecedented success, qualifying for the NCAA Tournament in 2005 and 2006 and advancing to the Sweet 16 in 2005. In 2004, the Wildcats earned the Pac-10 championship.

On the football front, Arizona has made back-to-back bowl appearances, including a Las Vegas Bowl win over BYU in 2009. The Wildcats also boast 10 Honda Award honorees – Tara Chaplin (cross country), Jenny Dalton (softball), Jenna Daniels (women's golf), Nancy Evans (softball), Jennie Finch (two-time winner/softball), Susie Parra (softball) and Amy Skieresz (three-time winner/cross country/track and field).

Athletics Administration

Kathleen LaRose
Interim Athletics Director

Kathleen "Rocky" LaRose is in her 30th year at the University of Arizona, her 15th year as Senior Associate Director of Athletics and her 20th year as Senior Woman Administrator. Currently, she oversees the internal operations of all 19 sports at the UA, being the first woman in her capacity to have day-to-day internal operational responsibilities over Division I-A football and men's basketball programs.

As the Senior Associate Athletics Director, LaRose also oversees compliance, heritage, events management and all of the C.A.T.S. student-athlete services – academics, medical services, life skills development and equipment operations. She also chairs the department's Equity and Title IX committees, and she directs the NCAA certification process.

LaRose joined the Arizona staff in 1979 as the UA softball coach and worked from 1980 until 1989 in various capacities including coordinator of athletic special events and special projects, and as assistant athletics director for fund development. LaRose is a past Vice President of the Pac-10 Conference and is a current member of the Pac-10 Council, which governs and regulates all Pac-10 policies. On the national level, she was a charter member of the NCAA Management Council (the legislative body of the NCAA) as the Pac-10 representative for four years and was appointed Management Council liaison to the NCAA Student-Athlete Advisory Board. She also has chaired various Pac-10 committees.

In 1990, LaRose developed the Commitment for Athletes' Total Success (C.A.T.S), an educational approach used by student-athlete services to better the student-athlete academically, athletically, and personally.

LaRose was the recipient of the university's 2004 Billy Joe Varney Award, the institution's top career service honor for members of the faculty or staff.

Raised in Phoenix, LaRose received both her Bachelor of Science and master's degrees from the University of Arizona. While in attendance, she competed on the UA softball team as a starting infielder and clean-up hitter, leading the Cats to their first-ever conference championship in 1979. She competed in the 1979 World Cup Softball championship as a member of the USA National Championship team. She also was a member of the Arete Society (UA's Athletics Honorary) and was the 1978 UA Homecoming Queen. She is married to Michael Proctor, the University's assistant vice president for corporate relations.
