Letter From Athletics Director

A message from Athletics Director Jim Livengood to prospective Wildcats

Thank you for your interest in the University of Arizona. As you consider the important choice of an institution of higher education at which you'll continue your academic and athletic careers, I hope that you will become more fully aware about what the University of Arizona has to offer.

First and foremost, the University is an outstanding academic institution with a tremendous national reputation. As a Carnegie Research I and Land Grant institution, its status as a public university is really second to none. You can rest assured that all the institution's educational resources and an outstanding teaching faculty will come into play as you seek an academic degree in any number of fields of endeavor.

Your quality of education is very important to us. While there is no question that your athletic ability plays a huge factor in our interest in you as a student-athlete, it cannot be overemphasized that the "student" part of the term student-athlete is dear to us. We want you to succeed, and we understand that earning an undergraduate degree forms the foundation for future success in life.

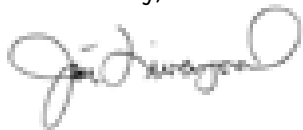

The Wildcat coaching staff is clearly one of the best in the Pac-10 and nationally. Head coach Greg Allen has brought in leaders from across the country, women to whom success and a tradition of winning through hard work and dedication comes naturally. The coaching and the entire athletics department staff are committed to the success of our student-athletes. Our women's golf program will be a winning program, and much of that will derive from the exceptional staff.

We have worked diligently to keep University of Arizona athletic facilities better than, or equal to, any other. You will note this on a visit — whether it is the legendary McKale Center, the computer center or our vibrant new strength or conditioning and treatment centers. The entire athletic department is housed in McKale Center and affords student-athletes with all the resources and individual services needed to succeed both in and out the gym.

Tucson is one of the largest college towns in America. While the city itself approaches a general population of nearly one million people, the University of Arizona remains a focal point. Its teaching, research and service missions reach across the globe, but UA athletics continues to be a favorite for much of Tucson's population. Tucson and the U of A go hand in hand and it makes for a unique relationship, as student-athletes are well known and supported in the community.

Again, thank you for considering the University of Arizona. We are interested in you as a student-athlete, as a young woman with bright overall potential and as a person who has what it takes to become an Arizona Wildcat.

Sincerely,

Jim Livengood

2008-09 Women's Golf Preview

Change can often be met with optimism, other times with pessimism. The 2008-09 Arizona women's golf team chooses to see the glass as half full despite losing its top player from last season, Alison Walshe, another in a long line of Wildcats to join the professional ranks.

In the past, the Wildcats often relied on their one low score to carry them to the top of the leader board. While this youthful group has the potential to post the low scores needed to threaten for tournament titles, it will be a consistent approach that is expected to permeate throughout the season.

"I don't think you'll see a lot of high numbers out of our girls," said head coach Shelly Haywood, whose starting lineup will often include no more than two upper class players. "I obviously expect to see some under par rounds. You might not see some really low 65 or 66 rounds, though we're definitely capable, but I think we'll be much more consistent."

Part of that consistency is a newly-created balance in the lineup. The difference between number one and number five will be much smaller this season, putting the onus on all five players to perform each week in order to maintain their spot in the lineup.

"I think our number five player will help us this year," remarked Haywood. "If that player can help throw out a bad round, it will make a huge difference. We've got 5 or 6 players that can shoot under par at any moment. Even though we're young, our freshmen are very experienced and played in a lot of international tournaments."

Freshmen

Looking at her younger players, Haywood is excited about the addition of freshmen Margarita Ramos, Isabelle Boineau, Nikki Koller and Ashley Malaska. Ramos, from Mexico, and Boineau, a native of France, both bring a wealth of international experience to the team and should challenge for a regular spot in the lineup each week. Koller and Malaska are talented players who will also have a chance to break into the starting five if they can make some specific improvements to their games.

"Margarita is an incredibly talented player and is incredibly consistent," commented Haywood. "Of all the girls on the team, she's probably the best driver on the team. You rarely see her miss the fairway and she's a wonderful ball-striker. She's a great personality and brings a lot of energy to the team."

"Isabelle possesses an amazing resume. She's the top-ranked amateur in France and is a very steady, consistent player that doesn't let her emotions get to her on the course. She's got more international experience than anyone on the team as a freshman. We're really looking forward to her breaking into that lineup."

"Nikki is a great kid who is very steady, a very good student and a very good player. She's very athletic and very determined. I'm looking for very good things out of Nikki. She's a grinder. She never gives up."

"Ashley is a great athlete and comes in with a lot of instruction. She's only played golf for about three years. She's a really hard worker and determined. She just needs a little bit more experience."

Sophomores

Just one sophomore will tee off for the Wildcats in 2008-09, but she will be an important part of the team. Alejandra Llaneza, another native of Mexico, was an honorable mention all-Pac-10 selection last season and finished third on the team last season in stroke average. She finished second at the Mexican Women's Amateur in January 2008 and is the only returning player to card a round in the 60s last season.

"Alejandra is our most consistent player right now. She's very strong and she's a bulldog out there. She's very gritty and determined. I look for her to step it up this year. She's been working hard in the gym and we're really proud of her."

Juniors

Haywood has two juniors to rely on for experience and leadership this season in Brittany Benvenuto and Emily Mason. Benvenuto comes into the season after a strong summer where she won the Pennsylvania State Amateur, downing golf legend Carol Semple-Thompson, 4 and 3, in the process. Mason is another consistent player who saw plenty of first team action last season after battling through injuries during the early part of her career.

"Brittany struggled with her confidence a little last year, but she worked hard all summer. She has worked incredibly hard on her golf swing and her confidence. She is hitting the ball better than I've ever seen her hit it. She brings a great energy to our lineup and everyone looks to her."

"Emily played with us most of the Spring last season and is a very consistent player. She's been working really hard on her putting. She's one of those kids that is working hard at breaking into one of those top five spots."

Seniors

A trio of fourth-year players round out the Arizona roster, bringing a wealth of knowledge, leadership and experience that should prove to be invaluable for the younger Wildcats throughout the season.

Amanda Wilson is the most experienced player on the team when it comes to collegiate play. She has shown that she can perform on the big stages and the Wildcats will need her to be a consistent scorer each week.

"Amanda has played in almost every tournament since she came to UofA. She has a ton of college golf experience. She's the one that we need to look for for some low numbers this year. If Amanda plays well, the team will play well. I look for Amanda to lead the team and get it done on the golf course."

Team captain Marisa Smith is the type of player every coach wants on their team. A leader both on and off the course for the Wildcats, she exemplifies selflessness and possesses the leadership qualities that few players ever bring to a team.

"Marisa is the best team captain I could have asked for. She's very involved with all of the girls and very organized. She is definitely the glue that holds the team together. She's been playing very well of late, she's very determined and the girls look to her for leadership both on and off the golf course."

The last piece of the Arizona puzzle is Brooke Schneider, another player who provides leadership in a number of intangible ways.

"Brooke is working on getting stronger and as her consistency improves, she will have better opportunities to contribute on the golf course."

Haywood is optimistic, but also realistic about the strengths and weaknesses of her team. Though she does not possess any big hitters, her team should excel with its short game, a place all golfers know leads to low scores.

"Off the tee, we're not exceptionally long, but I think we'll be much more consistent. We're all very good putters. Our putting stats in our top five have been really good. To be able to look at a birdie putt and expect to make it is a huge thing for us. I think we need to continue to improve on our short game, but then you never stop working on that part of your golf game, even if you're Tiger Woods."

The leadership that Haywood has boasted so much about has given the team a sense of unity that has lacked at times in the past. That unity should be crucial as the team plays one of the toughest schedules of any team in the NCAA.

"Our team unity this season is really incredible. In past seasons, we haven't all been on the same page. With the people we have this year, we're all on the same page and everyone wants the same things. We're going to surprise some people this year. People aren't giving us a lot of credit right now because we have two or three freshmen in the lineup and a sophomore and it's kind of an unknown."

Wildcat Coaching Staff

Head Coach Shelly Haywood

Fifth year at Arizona

Shelly Haywood was named head women's golf coach at the University of Arizona on July 10, 2007, after three successful seasons as the Wildcats' assistant coach.

Haywood, now in her fourth year at Arizona, was a two-time all-Big West Conference selection at New Mexico State University. Haywood is a proven force in the game on a local and national level as a member of the Ladies Professional Golfers' Association (LPGA), the USGA Women's Amateur Public Links Committee, and an honorary member of the Arizona Golf Association's Board of Governors. She is actively involved in supporting and donating to the Tucson junior golf community through clinics and speaking engagements. She was a multi-sport athlete in high school, lettering in volleyball, basketball and softball.

In October 2005, Haywood was given the LPGA's highest coaching honor, the National Coach of the Year, and was the recipient of the LPGA's Western Section Coach of the Year in 2005. She was also nominated for NGCA's Assistant Coach of the Year in her first two seasons at Arizona.

An accomplished player and teacher, Haywood was a member of the West Coast Ladies Tour from 2002-04. In 2004, she also earned two top-10 finishes in the Colorado Women's Open and the Nevada Women's Open. Since moving to Tucson in 1993, she has worked alongside her husband, award winning PGA Professional Michael Haywood, Director of Golf, at Tucson Country Club.

Since arriving at Arizona, Haywood has fostered the growth of the Arizona women's golf program with her passionate coaching style and enthusiastic vision for success. Haywood has coached some of the finest Wildcats, including first team All-American and 2008 Curtis Cup team member Alison Walshe, All-Americans Adriana Zwanck, Cassandra Kirkland, Lani Elston and Mary Jacobs. Additionally, eight all-Pac 10 selections and the program's only four-time NGCA All-Academic athlete, Whitney Welch, have played for Haywood. Since arriving at Arizona, Haywood has coached players to seven individual titles that include some of the nation's most prestigious championships.

A motivated, driven and enthusiastic coach, Haywood has assembled one of the nation's finest recruiting classes for 2008-09. The list includes two-time Kentucky state champion Nikki Koller, No. 1-ranked Mexican junior amateur Margarita Ramos, Mesa Red Mountain High School's Ashley Malaska, daughter of PGA Professional Mike Malaska, and No. 1 French junior amateur Isabelle Boineau. Boineau also represented her home country in the most recent World Amateur Team Championship.

Haywood enjoys cycling, working out, traveling with her husband and spending time with their two cats. She would eventually like to compete in a triathlon.

Haywood is a graduate of New Mexico State University, earning a degree in Professional Golf Management with a minor in Exercise Physiology.

Wildcat Coaching Staff

Assistant Coach Laura Myerscough

Second year at Arizona

Laura Myerscough joined the Wildcat coaching staff as a full-time assistant coach on Jan. 3, 2008.

Myerscough, who played for the Wildcats from 1998-2003, spent the previous five seasons playing professionally on the LPGA Tour, Futures Tour and the West Coast Ladies Golf Tour. Her best season was 2004 in which she finished 147th on the LPGA Tour money list. Myerscough ranked eighth on the 2003 Futures Tour with a 72.1 stroke average with three top-10 finishes.

"I can't think of a better place to start my coaching career than at the University of Arizona," said Myerscough. "I am excited about the opportunity to work with Shelly and a very talented group of student-athletes."

Myerscough, 27, was a part of one national championship (2000) and three Pac-10 Championship (2000, 2001, 2002) teams during her five seasons as a Wildcat. In 33 career collegiate appearances, Myerscough posted a 75.92 stroke average to go with eight top-10 and four top-20 finishes.

She was a National Golf Coaches Association honorable mention All-American and a second-team all-Pac-10 selection in 2002. Myerscough earned honorable mention all-Pac-10 accolades in 2001 and 2003 as well. She was the UA team captain as a senior in 2002-03.

Originally from Charleston, Ill., Myerscough was the runner-up at the 2000 United States Women's Amateur Championship. She also played in the 2001, 2002 and 2004 U.S. Women's Opens, the 2002 Curtis Cup and represented the United States at the 2000 and 2002 World Amateur Championship. For three seasons (2000-03), Myerscough was ranked in the top 10 in Golfweek magazine's amateur rankings.

"Laura is a great addition to our staff," said Haywood. "She's had an outstanding playing career as both an amateur and a professional and I believe she will be an excellent coach."

Myerscough earned her degree in physical education from Arizona in December 2007

Individual Champions

Individual NCAA Champions and Players of the Year

Lorena Ochoa

Guadalajara, Mexico

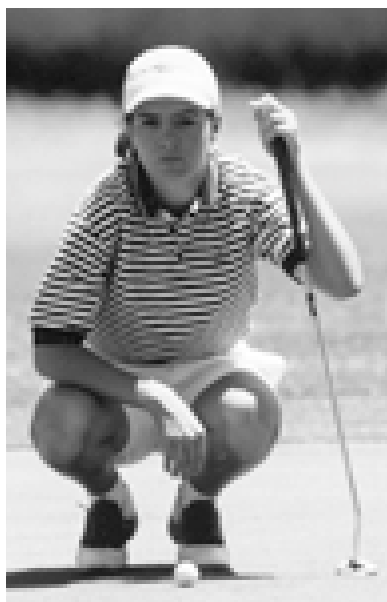

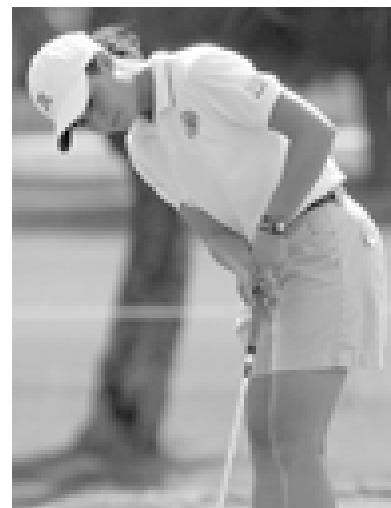

2001 and 2002 Player of the Year, First-team All-American

Lorena Ochoa accomplished more in a two-year collegiate career than most golfers can hope to achieve in a lifetime. The 5-foot-7-inch star from Guadalajara, Mexico, finished in first or second places in 18 of the 20 collegiate events in which she competed. She closed her college campaign as the most successful golfer in Arizona history, winning 12 individual titles to set a new school record for career victories.

Perhaps most impressive of Ochoa's accomplishments is her NCAA-record winning streak of seven straight wins accomplished in her sophomore season. Her streak ranks second among all recognized streaks in the history of modern golf. Only Byron Nelson boasts a winning streak longer than Ochoa's as he won 11 consecutive tournaments in 1945.

In her freshman season, Ochoa set an NCAA record for scoring average as she totaled a mark of 71.33. But the native of Guadalajara, Mexico, returned her in her second year to shatter her own record as she posted a sophomore-scoring average of 70.13, nearly two strokes below par.

Her consistently-dominating performances over the course of her two-year Arizona career led to her being named the nation's Player of the Year in both of her seasons of collegiate golf. Her name is etched sundry times in the national and Arizona record books as the golfer against whom all future collegiate greats will be measured.

Marisa Baena

Pereira, Colombia

Two-Time Player of the Year, 1996 Pac-10, NCAA West Regional and NCAA Champion

On May 25, 1996, Marisa Baena completed one of the most impressive sweeps in Arizona golf history. Having already captured the Pac-10 and NCAA West Regional individual titles, Baena put the finishing touches to a rare postseason hat trick by finishing the NCAA Championships with a score of 296, seven strokes ahead of second place finisher Kellee Booth of ASU. What made the accomplishment even more remarkable was that Baena was only nine months into her career as a Wildcat.

Baena accomplished more in her freshman season than most can achieve in a four-year career. With her individual championship she joined the ranks of the Cats' two other NCAA individual champions, Susan Slaughter (1990) and Annika Sorenstam (1991). With that complete, she proceeded to lead the Arizona women to their first-ever national championship by hitting a crucial shot on the first hole of the playoff to cap one of the most dramatic finishes in championship history. She holed an eight-iron shot from 147 yards out to record an eagle two on the hole and put her name in collegiate golfing history.

Baena was named the Eleanor Dudley National Player of the Year in 1996 and 1997 and she came within two shots of earning a second consecutive individual NCAA title in 1997. Her postseason accomplishments during her freshman season were preceded by five first-place finishes and a third and fourth-place performance in her last seven tournaments.

She completed her three-year career at Arizona as one of the most successful golfers in the school's history. A three-time All-American and All-Pac-10 selection, Baena led the team to numerous No. 1 rankings, two Pac-10 championships and two NCAA West Regional championships. She captured nine individual crowns in her career and placed in the top-10 23 out of 28 tournaments.

Jenna Daniels

Bonita, California

2000 NCAA Champion and Player of the Year,
First-team All-American

Jenna Daniels closed her Arizona career at the pinnacle of the college golf world. Daniels capped a season that saw her win three tournaments and earn eight top-five finishes, including a three-stroke victory over teammate Julia Kraschinski at the NCAA Championships. Her performance at the NCAA Championships was instrumental to the Wildcats' success, as it had been all season long. Behind Daniels' efforts, the Wildcats cruised to the program's second national championship with a 21-stroke victory, the third largest margin in the 19-year history of the tournament.

Daniels anchored a Wildcat squad that won nine tournaments, including its final eight of the season, with a 71.70 stroke average. She held down the nation's top spot in the rankings for a majority of the year. Daniels dominated throughout a season that never saw her finish a tournament below 15th place.

By capturing the NCAA Championship, she completed a postseason triple crown. Daniels won the NCAA West Regional in her junior year and the Pac-10 Conference Championship in her freshman year.

Her postseason accolades matched her regular season performances. Daniels won the Honda Award for women's golf, honoring the nation's top collegiate women's golfer and was named first team All-American.

Individual Champions

Individual NCAA Champions and Players of the Year

Erica Blasberg

Corona, California

2003 Golfweek Player of the Year,
First-team All-American in 2003 and 2004

Erica Blasberg's freshman season was one of the most decorated in Arizona women's golf history. The Corona, Calif., native captured two tournament titles and placed in the top-5 in seven tournaments. In addition to her regular season success, Blasberg came in third at both the Pac-10 Championships and NCAA Championships. In 30 rounds of golf Blasberg shot even to or under par 16 times. Blasberg's success was shown by the accolades she received. She was named Pac-10 Golfer and Freshman of the Year, All-American by the NGCA, Golfstat Cup (given to the nation's lowest stroke average) and Golfweek and Golfworld Player of the Year.

Susan Slaughter

Floyd, Virginia

1990 NCAA Champion and
First-team All-American

Susan Slaughter saved her best for last in winning the 1990 individual NCAA Championship at the Arthur Hills Course on Hilton Head Island, S.C. After finishing second at the 1989 championships as a freshman, Slaughter found herself in the heat of the race the next season as well. This time she faced the pressure of a sudden-death playoff and came out on top by sinking a two-foot birdie putt to capture the title after going into the final round a stroke out of first place.

Her performance earned her first team All-America honors and gave her the distinction of being Arizona's first NCAA golf champion. Her second-place finish the year before had been the highest finish by an Arizona woman and it tied the best finish posted by the men. The come-from-behind victory capped a season in which Slaughter struggled but proved that she could come up big when it was important. Her highest finish of the year until then had been a couple of fifth-place ties. But she did not forget the advice given to her by Michael Jordan after the 1989 NCAA awards ceremony. "He told me to improve one spot and I would win this year," said Slaughter.

Annika Sorenstam

Stockholm, Sweden

1991 Player of the Year and NCAA Champion; Two-time All-American;
1992 Pac-10 Champion

There is nothing unassuming about the trail of accomplishments that Annika Sorenstam left in her wake at Arizona. The quiet Swede made plenty of noise in her two seasons as a Wildcat by winning the national championship as a freshman in 1991 and following that with a Pac-10 championship in 1992 before turning pro after her sophomore season. In addition to earning first-team All-American and All-Pac-10 honors, she was named the 1991 Player of the Year.

Sorenstam finished her career as a Wildcat with seven individual tournament titles and she finished out of the top ten only once - an 11th-place finish as a freshman. In addition to taking care of business on the course, she earned Pac-10 All-Academic First Team honors for carrying a 3.0 grade point average in the classroom.

National Champions

1996 NCAA Champions

On its way to capturing the program's first national championship, the 1996 women's golf team found out there is a fine line between life and death. It took the shot of a lifetime by star freshman Marisa Baena during a sudden-death playoff to lift the Cats to a one-stroke victory over San Jose State in what has been called one of the most exciting finishes in NCAA history.

Baena had already claimed the individual championship with a score of 296 - a comfortable seven-stroke advantage over the nearest competitor - when she holed a 147-yard eight-iron shot for eagle on the par-four 18th which proved to be the difference in the playoff. The Cats scored a 15 on the hole and the Spartans carded a 16.

"It was the greatest shot I've ever seen under that kind of pressure," said head coach Rick LaRose, who also led the UA men's team to its first national title in 1992. "There have been a lot of great golf shots, but under these circumstances, with a team victory on the line, nothing's bigger."

Baena redeemed herself after missing a birdie putt on the 18th hole of regulation that would have given Arizona the title outright. Instead, she saved the winning shot for a more dramatic occasion. "I hit a couple of really good shots in this tournament, but I thought it was just going to get close like a couple of shots I had before," said the freshman from Colombia. "I think it is the greatest shot I have ever made in my life."

Even after Baena's shot, the Cats still needed clutch par putts from Krissie Register and Heather Graff to give them the edge. Graff was Arizona's next-highest finisher after firing a four-round total of 306 to put her in a tie for sixth overall, and Register shot a 310 to finish in a three-way tie at 13th. Christina Tolerton tied for 67th at 328 and Jeanne Anne Krizman, who recorded a bogey five on the playoff hole, rounded out the Arizona contingent at 79th with a 333.

Arizona went into the final round with a four-stroke lead but fired a 304 to finish the tournament at 1240, the highest score ever for an NCAA Champion, while the Spartans finished with a tournament team-low 300 in the final round to pull even with the Cats. Texas finished third with a score of 1241, UCLA was fourth with 1243, and Stanford, the favorite going in finished fifth at 1248. Each of the top-five teams had higher scores than the previous NCAA Championship high score of 1218 set by Florida in 1985. That was due in large part to the hot, gusty conditions that dominated the four days of the tournament.

The title was the first in the program's history and the second for LaRose who led the men's team to the 1992 championship. The Cats came on strong right when they needed it in the postseason. They completed a sweep that included the Pac-10 and NCAA West Regional Championships. Baena also finished an impressive triple crown of her own, winning the individual titles in all three events.

"I guess it's a Wildcat characteristic to play hard down the stretch," LaRose said.

2000 NCAA Champions

The 2000 NCAA women's golf season proved to be an exercise in futility for everyone but the Arizona Wildcats. By capturing the 2000 national championship, the Wildcats completed one of the most dominating performances in the history of collegiate golf.

Arizona's four-round total of 23-over 1,175 at the NCAA Championships gave them a 21-stroke victory, the third largest in the tournament's 19-year history. The NCAA Championships marked the eighth consecutive tournament title for the squad, a string that began on Nov. 7 at the Golf World Invitational. During that stretch, the Wildcats won eight titles by a combined 64 strokes. Individually, a Wildcat earned medalist honors four times- the Golf World Invitational, the Rainbow Wahine Invitational, the Ping/ASU Invitational, and the NCAA Championships.

Jenna Daniels took the NCAA individual title with rounds of 73, 69, 68, and 77 to finish at one-under-par for the tournament. Teammate Julia Kraschinski fired a four-round total of 290 to claim second place at two-over par. Also finishing in the top 10 was sophomore Cristina Baena, who closed action at just nine-over par (297).

The tournament was the last for seniors Jenna Daniels and Jill Gomric and also proved to be the final for head coach Todd McCorkle.

"There are a lot of mixed emotions right now," Daniels said. "I'll never be able to play as a Wildcat again, but what a way to finish. What a way to go out."

Daniels provided leadership and tremendous performances for Arizona all year long. With a stroke average of 71.70 and an average finish of fourth, Daniels truly deserved her selection as an All-American.

Also boosting the Wildcats' was the emergence of freshman Julia Kraschinski. The freshman standout came on strong at the end of the year, closing her freshman campaign with five consecutive top-15 finishes. Kraschinski culminated the season with her second-place showing at the NCAA Championships.

In earning the program's second national championship in five years, the Arizona Wildcats solidified their standing as a college golf powerhouse.

Arizona National

Arizona National is a desert facility designed by Robert Trent Jones Jr. The course is situated in the foothills of Tucson's Santa Catalina Mountains, and its diverse 6,776-yard, par 71 layout provides classic golf in the desert challenges as well as some of the most spectacular scenery of any golf facility in the Southwest. The endless beauty of a panoramic mountain vista scene, forest of giant saguaros, nine natural springs, spectacular city views, and magnificent desert vegetation makes Arizona National an unparalleled golf experience.

At Arizona National the beauty doesn't stop on the golf course. The state-of-the-art facility is equipped with all of the necessary amenities needed to perfect the Arizona golfer's experience. A learning and performance center, and a restaurant with indoor and lake-view patio dining add to the experience of Wildcat golf.

An exceptional practice facility is also one of the features included. It is located on the south end of the driving range and is strictly for the men and women's teams. It includes a range, practice putting greens and a chipping green. The team also has access to the teaching center that is equipped with the latest video equipment.

According to Golf World magazines, Arizona National "is what desert golf should be." Similarly,

Golf Magazine's Brian McCallen said of the facility, "it may be one of the best desert courses ever built."

On June 12, 2002 I.R.I Golf Group CEO Jeff Silverstein announced the purchase of The Raven Golf Course at Sabino Springs and an enhanced partnership with Arizona athletes. As part of the deal, the facility was renamed Arizona National Golf Club at Sabino Springs.

As part of the new Arizona National facility, I.R.I Golf Group has committed to a multi-million dollar capital improvement project, including a clubhouse renovation, practice facility and a Wildcat Wall of Fame.

The course is host to the several tournaments through the collegiate season including the men's PING/Arizona Intercollegiate and past women's Wildcat Invitational home events.

Athletics Facilities

The Arizona Athletics Department is on the southeast side of the University and is located in the recently renovated McKale Center. Student-athletes from each of the Arizona Athletics' 19 sports programs train in McKale Center, the home of the Wildcats. Arizona's men's basketball, women's basketball, volleyball and gymnastics teams compete in McKale's arena, while the remainder of the Wildcat teams compete in nearby venues.

Jim Click Hall of Champions

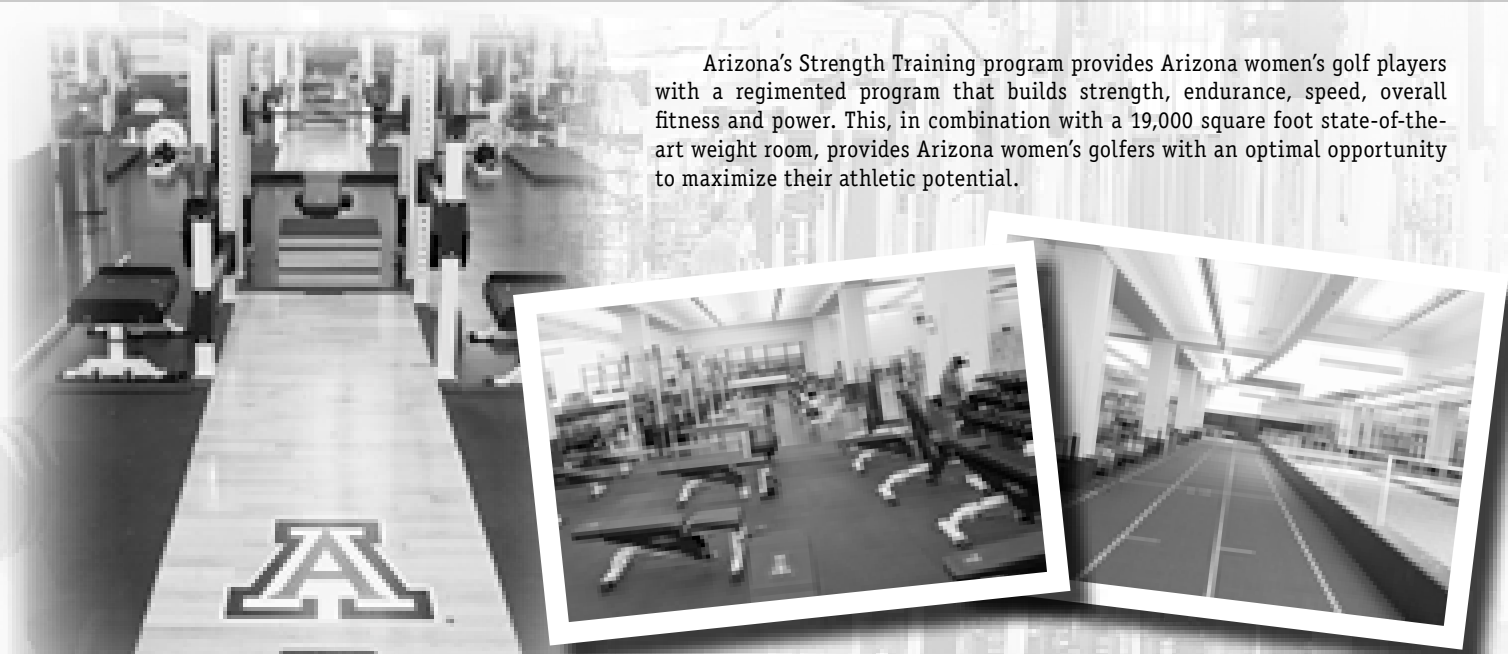

The Jim Click Hall of Champions, housed in the Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion, is Arizona's heritage center. Here, Arizona's Sports Hall of Fame and rotating exhibits showcase the heritage and tradition of Wildcat athletics in nearly 10,000 square feet of display space.

Eddie Lynch Athletics Pavilion

Strength Training and Medical Services

Arizona's Strength Training program provides Arizona women's golf players with a regimented program that builds strength, endurance, speed, overall fitness and power. This, in combination with a 19,000 square foot state-of-the-art weight room, provides Arizona women's golfers with an optimal opportunity to maximize their athletic potential.

The Kasser Family Sports Medicine Center

The sports medicine center consists of 5,300 usable square feet in space. It includes the Alex and Elisabeth Kasser Aqua Rehab Facility which features an underwater treadmill and other hydro-therapy equipment. The facility has stations for taping and treatment, examination rooms and offices for UA physicians, staff offices, a reception area and an X-ray examination room. The athletic medicine staff is committed to working with strength and conditioning coaches, team coaches and student-athletes in implementing ways to prevent injuries. Although the risk of injury cannot be completely eliminated, proper strength and conditioning, adequate hydrations, taping and bracing, and education are all methods employed by the staff to minimize the risk of injury or illness. If a student-athlete is injured during an athletic event, the athletic trainer will assess the injury and proceed to treat the injury or recommend further consultation from a team physician. The athletic training staff and physical therapist are trained in up-to-date methods of rehabilitating athletic injuries.

C.A.T.S. Academics

C.A.T.S. Academics and Life Skills Programs

The University of Arizona Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to the academic, physical and personal development of each and every Wildcat student-athlete. To assist in that endeavor, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics (ICA) has developed a philosophical approach called C.A.T.S. (Commitment to an Athlete's Total Success). C.A.T.S. consists of four programs: Academics, Life Skills, Strength and Conditioning and Medical Services. These programs provide a philosophical framework for ICA and staff to use in the task of assisting in the personal, physical and emotional growth and in the educational development of the student-athlete.

At Arizona, academic excellence is a priority. The academic program at Arizona provides student-athletes with the tools and skills necessary to achieve academic success through the utilization of diverse academic programming, including academic counseling, tutoring, course selection and strategic study planning.

In C.A.T.S. Life Skills, the main focus is on personal development, leadership, career development and community service. More than 50 members of the faculty and various campus departments are actively involved in a network supporting C.A.T.S. C.A.T.S. Life Skills includes: enrichment and orientation programs, substance abuse education, confidential and professional counseling to meet student-athletes' issues regarding personal health and mental/emotional well-being, "at-risk" programming, minority outreach, peak performance counseling, peer advising, career development programs, internship opportunities, support from campus faculty, a Student-Athlete Advisory Board (SAAB) that represents the voice of the student-athlete, and a Community Outreach Program which includes the Smith Project Speakers' Bureau which focuses on teaching children how to make healthy life choices and the importance of education.

Computer Lab

Arizona's state-of-the art computer lab provides student-athletes with the resources to complete class work in a timely and efficient manner. Its convenient location in McKale Center is easily accessible for student-athletes. The academic center and the computer lab are also right next door to the weight room, team meeting rooms and locker rooms.

Tucson, Arizona

Expect The Unexpected

Located in the heart of southern Arizona, Tucson is a city of stunning contrast and diversity. From the broad desert valley of world-famous saguaro cacti to 9,000-foot mountain forests of pine trees and snow, the city stands at a crossroads both geographically and culturally.

Tucson is a thriving metropolis that continues to grow by thousands of residents each month, but it has held fast to its small-town ambience. Locals gather at historic Fourth Avenue for nighttime entertainment and shopping, and the University holds the center of the city's attention with its athletics and cultural activities. Outdoor activities are highlighted by Sabino Canyon, which showcases the beauty of the desert with river-guided trails leading into the mountains.

Tucson Temperature

Tucson is renowned for its superb year-round weather. Warm and sunny throughout most of the year, the air is remarkably dry with a low relative humidity. It lies in the zone receiving more sunshine than any other section in the United States. The average high temperature is 81 degrees and the average low temperature is 54 degrees. With an average of 12 inches of rainfall and 86 percent sunshine, Tucson receives more than 50 percent of its rain during the months of July, August and September.

The Sonoran desert provides a unique setting not to be found anywhere else in the world. Far from the Saharan sand dunes that most first-time visitors expect, the desert boasts a wide range of wildlife, vegetation and great mountain views.

When the temperatures rise in the desert, it's just a 40-minute drive to the top of Mt. Lemmon, the southernmost ski resort in the United States.

Athletic Excellence

The University of Arizona's Athletic excellence is rooted in a strong foundation of Wildcat heritage and history that dates back to the early 1900s. The Arizona Athletics program has produced countless All-Americans, all-conference honorees and NCAA team and individual titles throughout that span, ranking second to none in athletic excellence.

The Wildcats boast two of the most successful programs in NCAA history – men's basketball and softball. Under the guidance of Hall of Fame Head Coach Lute Olson, the men's basketball program has reached unprecedented heights with its 1997 NCAA Championship, four Final Four appearances and 11 Pac-10 Championships. The Wildcats also hold the longest active streaks in the nation with 19 consecutive 20-win seasons and 24 consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament. To his credit, Olson has added seven Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors in 24 seasons to his list of accomplishments at Arizona.

Under the guidance of Head Coach Mike Candrea, UA's softball program has achieved national prominence, as the Wildcats have won eight NCAA titles and 10 Pac-10 titles. Candrea has led Arizona to 20 College World Series berths, and he has helped produce five National Players of the Year. In 2006, the Wildcats won the national championship, their first since the 2001 season. The Wildcats followed that up with a repeat performance in 2007, capturing back-to-back NCAA crowns for the third time in program history. Candrea has also earned Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors 10 times since the league began in softball play 22 years ago.

The baseball team won three NCAA titles in a span of 10 years – 1976, 1980 and 1986 – and returned to the World Series in 2004 for the first time in 18 years. The team has claimed three Pac-10 Conference titles since joining the league in 1979. The men's and women's golf teams have combined to tally three NCAA titles, 10 NCAA Regional titles and nine Pac-10 titles. Head coach Rick LaRose was a five-time Pac-10 Coach of the Year honoree (four men/one women).

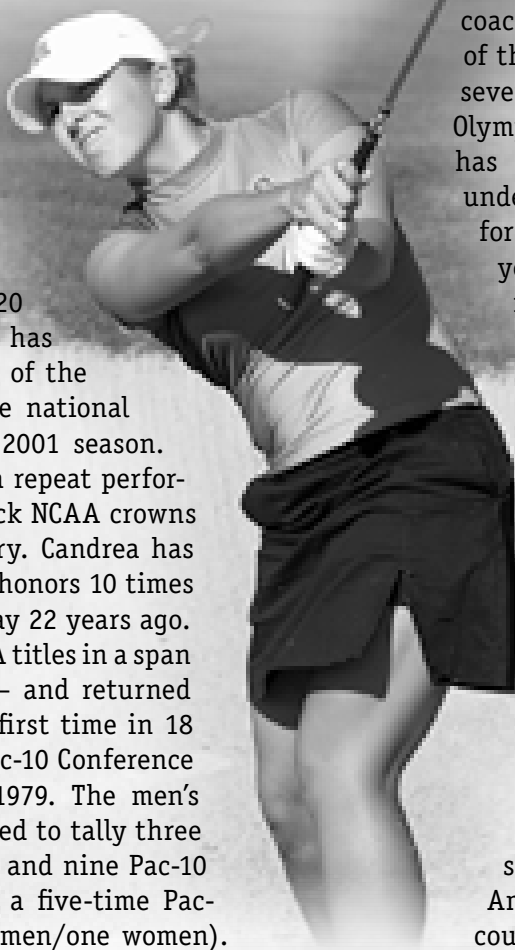

Former head coach Joan Bonvicini led the women's basketball team to seven NCAA Tournament appearances over a nine year stretch, dating back to the program's first-ever NCAA berth in 1997. The volleyball program made its 21st NCAA Tournament appearance in 2005, which also marked the team's 10th consecutive NCAA berth and 12th time overall in 15 seasons under Head Coach Dave Rubio.

UA's Olympic sports also provide the Wildcat program with consistent participation in the postseason, and they have garnered numerous individual NCAA champions, all-conference honorees and All-America selections. Women's gymnastics has made 20 consecutive postseason appearances, while the swimming and diving program has produced 36 individual NCAA champions and 30 Olympians.

In 2005, swimming and diving Head Coach Frank Busch was named national coach of the year, as well as Pac-10 Coach of the Year. Track and field has produced several individual NCAA champions and Olympians as well. The soccer program has experienced unprecedented success under Head Coach Dan Tobias, qualifying for the NCAA Tournament the last two years and advancing to the Sweet 16 in 2005. In 2004, the Wildcats earned the Pac-10 championship and Tobias was named Pac-10 and National Coach of the Year from Soccer America.

On the football front, every Pac-10 team had bowl appearances in the 1990s, but Arizona's three bowl victories in that span were eclipsed by none. The Wildcats also boast 10 Honda Award honorees – Tara Chaplin (cross country), Jenny Dalton (softball), Jenna Daniels (women's golf), Nancy Evans (softball), Jennie Finch (two-time winner/softball), Susie Parra (softball) and Amy Skieresz (three-time winner/cross country/track and field).

Athletics Administration

Jim Livengood
Athletics Director

Jim Livengood's leadership and wide-ranging knowledge of intercollegiate athletics helps give The University of Arizona an enviable stature as the program pursues success a decade into its second century in 2008-09.

Livengood became UA's eighth athletics director in January 1994. Behind his strong leadership, remarkable developments have occurred throughout the program in the past 14 years, both from competitive and administrative standpoint. He oversees the 19 men's and women's teams that make up one of the nation's more well-rounded athletics programs. Notably, the UA continued to thrive on all fronts, including the competitive arenas, physical plant improvements, compliance and equity issues, student-athlete welfare and the necessary financial strategies required to operate a $38 million enterprise. He has developed strong continuity in UA athletics, using his and the institution's reputation to maintain effectiveness on local, regional and national fronts.

During Livengood's tenure, UA has maintained its top-30 competitive record with overall national rankings by the NACDA Directors' Cup (formerly Sears Cup) of sixth in 1993-94; fourth in 1994-95; seventh in 1995-96; sixth in 1997-98; ninth in 1998-99; eighth in 1999-2000; fifth in 2000-01; ninth in 2001-02; 16th in 2002-03; 12th in 2003-04; 18th in 2004-05; 11th in 2005-06; 24th in 2006-07; and 27th in 2007-08. This record reflects success throughout Arizona's broad-based program, highlighted by participation in the 1994 and 2001 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Final Four, and becoming 1997 NCAA Men's Basketball National Champions. Arizona also won the 1994, 1996, 1997, 2001, 2006 and 2007 NCAA Division I National Softball Championships along with the 1996 and 2000 NCAA women's golf titles.

Kathleen (Rocky) LaRose
Senior Associate Athletics Director

Kathleen "Rocky" LaRose is in her 30th year at the University of Arizona, her 15th year as Senior Associate Director of Athletics and her 20th year as Senior Woman Administrator. Currently, she oversees the internal operations of all 19 sports at the UA, being the first woman in her capacity to have day-to-day internal operational responsibilities over Division I-A football and men's basketball programs.

As the Senior Associate Athletics Director, LaRose also oversees compliance, heritage, events management and all of the C.A.T.S. student-athlete services - academics, medical services, life skills development and equipment operations. She also chairs the department's Equity and Title IX committees, and she directs the NCAA certification process.

LaRose joined the Arizona staff in 1979 as the UA softball coach and worked from 1980 until 1989 in various capacities including coordinator of athletic special events and special projects, and as assistant athletics director for fund development. LaRose is a past Vice President of the Pac-10 Conference and is a current member of the Pac-10 Council, which governs and regulates all Pac-10 policies. On the national level, she was a charter member of the NCAA Management Council (the legislative body of the NCAA) as the Pac-10 representative for four years and was appointed Management Council liaison to the NCAA Student-Athlete Advisory Board. She also has chaired various Pac-10 committees.

In 1990, LaRose developed the Commitment for Athletes' Total Success (C.A.T.S.), an educational approach used by student-athlete

This past Spring, the men's and women's swimming and diving teams swept the NCAA championships.

Livengood is uniquely prepared for his daily challenges. Since coming to Arizona, he has earned the respect of staff, community, and peers alike and has become well known for his hands-on, personable approach and his involvement with the community. In 2003 he became a member of the Fiesta Bowl Board of Directors. Campus involvements include membership on the Presidential Leadership Team for Campaign Arizona (2000-present), the University Council (1998-present), the UA Foundation-University Relations Committee (1996-present), and Chairmanship of the Arizona Collegiate Institute for Leadership Advisory Council (2000-03).

Earning the respect of his counterparts from across the country, Livengood served as a member of the NCAA Division I men's basketball committee from 1999-2004 and was chair in 2002-03. He is a member of the NCAA Fellows Program to mentor new athletics directors, has served as a member of the NACDA Preseason Football Games Committee, and was a member of the NACDA Strategic Planning Committee from 1999-2001. Livengood served as President of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics in 1998-1999, and in June 1999 was named Division I-A Athletics Director of the Year.

He is among national leaders in gender equity issues, continuing these efforts through his service to the Pac-10 Gender Equity Committee (1997-98) as well as his continued diligent work to keep the Arizona Athletics program in a leadership role in gender issues.

Born March 28, 1945 in Walla Walla, Washington, Livengood, received his bachelor's degree from Brigham Young in 1968 and completed his fifth-year education requirement for teaching certification at Central Washington in 1972.

Livengood and his wife, Linda, have two grown children, both of whom graduated from the University of Arizona. Michelle graduated from the College of Law in May 2000, and Jeremy graduated in December 1999.

services to better the student-athlete academically, athletically, and personally.

LaRose was the recipient of the university's 2004 Billy Joe Varney Award, the institution's top career service honor for members of the faculty or staff.

Raised in Phoenix, LaRose received both her Bachelor of Science and master's degrees from the University of Arizona. While in attendance, she competed on the UA softball team as a starting infielder and clean-up hitter, leading the Cats to their first-ever conference championship in 1979. She competed in the 1979 World Cup Softball championship as a member of the USA National Championship team. She also was a member of the Arete Society (UA's Athletics Honorarium) and was the 1978 UA Homecoming Queen. She is married to Michael Proctor, the University's assistant vice president for corporate relations.
